Washington, Feb. 10.—President Coolidge will veto the McNary-Haugen bill if it comes to him in its present form. This determination is based on a number of phases of the bill which are objectionable to the president. They can be removed if the proponents of farm legislation care to do so, but indications are that they prefer the present program.

Mr. Coolidge objects to the provision that the farm organizations of the country shall appoint the members of the proposed federal farm board and that the chief executive shall act as a fourth member in accepting the nomination made for him. Such a usurpation of the executive authority, it is contended, has never been asked of a chief executive. There have been provisions to the effect that appointments shall be made from a certain group but this has always been on boards of commissions in which the freedom of choice as to individuals was left to the president. The nearest approach to the McNary-Haugen proposal was in the provisions of the Transportation act of 1920 creating the railroad labor board, which has since been abolished. Three members were nominated by employers and three by labor organizations, but the president had no restrictions whatsoever placed upon him with respect to the three members of the public group. If the McNary-Haugen bill provided for such a board, the farm organizations would have no power to go beyond that and he would be compelled to select one from the group of

12 BOARD MEMBERS
The McNary-Haugen bill as enacted into law would have members on the federal farm board nominated and selected by the farm organizations themselves and while it is true the president could select from the three nominations made, he would have no power to go beyond that and he would be compelled to select one from the group of

CHINESE WAR LORDS OPEN THEIR CAMPAIGN

Peking, Feb. 10.—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, head of the alliance of northern war lords, announced Thursday that his great campaign had begun in the war of the north against the south.

London, Feb. 10.—The arrival of 300 American marines in Shanghai is reported in an exchange telegraph dispatch received here Thursday. Two battalions of British troops are expected Friday, the dispatch adds.

The resumed negotiations between Charge d'Affaires O'Malley and the Chinese foreign minister at Hankow have resulted in an agreement regarding the British concession there. Sir Austen Chamberlain told the house of commons Thursday.

FIRE ROUTS BADGER FAMILY FROM HOUSE

Superior, Feb. 10.—While the thermometer stood at zero the family of Mr. and Mrs. William Stierman, farmers residing 14 miles from here, was forced to flee from their home because of the fire. The children, ranging in age from 1 to 14, some of them partly clad, watched the house burn to the ground. The loss is about $2,000 partly covered by insurance.

COOLIDGE ASKS NEW ARMAMENT LIMITATION TURN DOWN DAVIS AS FARM HEAD

WOULD SCALE
DOWN NAVIES
OF 5 POWERS

President Suggests Geneva
Treaties in Note to Leading Nations

Washington, Feb. 10.—Once more the United States has undertaken to lead the world toward a scaling down of naval armaments.

In a note to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, President Coolidge has suggested that treaties to that end be negotiated without delay at the Geneva conference.

The proposal would extend downward to smaller warships, the limitations imposed at the Washington conference of first class naval craft. The same proposal was made by the United States at the Washington conference, but failed of acceptance.

In a special message to congress announcing what he had done, Mr. Coolidge declared that despite the principles established at the conference here in 1921, "certain powers" have laid down "far-reaching naval building programs which suggest the shadow of another world-wide race among nations to outbuild one another."

DEADLOCK THREATENED
He suggested also that the Geneva discussions, initiated by the league of nations, are threatened with deadlock if the powers proceed along their present lines of negotiations. So far as land and air armaments are concerned, the president stressed the willingness to let foreign powers work out an agreement of their own. The land and air forces of the United States said, are at a minimum and "constitute a threat to no one."

The message fell upon congress without warning, in the midst of a controversy over the construction of the three new cruisers. Over-riding the president's recommendations, the senate has voted to authorize this construction and the house, although it once has rejected the proposal, appears somewhat disposed to accept the president's construction.

Should Mr. Coolidge's suggestion be accepted by the powers, and treaties negotiated to carry it into effect, cruisers would be one of the classes of ships directly affected by any limitation agreed upon.

CONTRACTOR FAILS TO PROTECT CLAIMS

Madison Attorney Tells Master Builders They Must Secure Liens

Green Bay, Feb. 10.—The contractor has been forced into the position of financier on much of the building he undertakes, and through neglecting to protect his claim as preferred creditor on the job, is permitting the irresponsible contractor to do his bidding.

William H. Spohn, Madison attorney, in his address Wednesday before the Wisconsin Master Builders association.

"In the first instance the supplier of either material or labor is a preferred creditor on the job. He is entitled to be. He has his lien upon his work which in a great many instances is absolute protection, and I have never heard of a case where the finished job was not worth as much as the total charges for labor and material that stood against it. The trouble lies with prior encumbrances."

A builder, however, always starts the job with every reasonable assurance of being paid," declared Mr. Spohn, while the "law, insofar as contractors are concerned, requires him to determine at an early date whether he wishes to avail himself of the security afforded."

Mr. Spohn then referred to the famous 30-day notice which it is necessary for the sub-contractor to serve upon the owner if he wishes to have the job stand as security for his pay.

Mr. Spohn declared that the failure of the material man and the sub-contractor to assert their rights, makes it possible for the irresponsible contractor to keep going on the forced loans from them until he crashes because of inability to meet his payroll.

M'CORMICK DENIES HIS WIFE WILL DIVORCE HIM

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Harold F. McCormick of the harvest family of millionaires, denied Thursday that his wife, Ganna Walska, beautiful Polish singer, is to divorce him. He is her fourth husband.

"I know nothing about the divorce rumor, because there is nothing to it," Mr. McCormick asserted upon his arrival home from New York. A New York newspaper had published a story that Ganna was to divorce her husband in Paris, and that he already had arranged a substantial property settlement for her.

Cigaret Tax Bill Causes Angry Buzzing At Capitol

FIVE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH IN MICHIGAN HOME

Sault Ste. Marie, Feb. 10.—Five children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trimble were burned to death in their home at Sault Ste. Marie, southwest of here early Wednesday morning. Trimble was badly burned, while his wife, who jumped from an upper window with their sixth child, is suffering from exposure. The charred bodies of five children, two in their beds, were found early Wednesday morning, with snow had extinguished the embers of the destroyed home.

The fire was unnoticed by the sleeping family upstairs until it virtually had consumed the stairway. Trimble, carrying Margaret, 8, and Robert, 5, tried to run down the stairs, but stumbled, dropping the children into the flames. Falling into the flames himself he was terribly burned, but managed to make his way out of the house.

ASSEMBLY VOTES TO ASK CONGRESS FOR BEER REFERENDUM

Prescott Resolution Is Passed,
63 to 28, After Brief Debate

Madison, Feb. 10.—The state assembly Thursday adopted a resolution to memorialize congress to conduct a nationwide referendum on the repeal of the Volstead act. The resolution, introduced by Assemblyman Prescott, Milwaukee, was passed 63 to 28. A previous motion to lay the resolution on the table was defeated, 67 to 25, and another, favoring indefinite postponement, met a similar fate by a vote of 67 to 25.

The passage of the Prescott resolution followed a brief debate, in which Assemblyman Thayer of Birchwood, and Mr. Prescott clashed over allegedly personal remarks, the latter rising to a point of order after Mr. Thayer had declared that "any one can tell where the Milwaukee representative stands on the wet-dry question by his physique."

Assemblyman Thayer was ruled out of order. He then asked indefinite postponement of the resolution, but this was voted down 60 to 32. A motion to lay the resolution on the table was killed by a vote of 67 to 25.

WAS PEOPLE'S VOYE PRESIDENT ANNOUNCED, WHEN THE RESOLUTION CAME UP, THAT THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE HAD ENDORSED A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO ALLOW BEER BY A 176,000 VOTE. HE GAVE THE VOTE IN KENOSHA, WAUKESHA, BURNETT, WASHINGTON AND DANE CO., ALL IN FAVOR OF THE BEER PROPOSAL, AND SAID HE HOPED THE "DRY-WET" REPRESENTATIVES OF THESE COUNTIES WOULD FOLLOW THIS VOTE, IM- PLANTING THAT SOME OF THE REPRESENTA- TIVES MIGHT VOTE DRY WHILE THEY WERE WET SYMPATHIZERS.

Adoption of the beer resolution was preceded by the introduction of a large group of new bills and the passage of the two joint resolutions by Assemblyman Reis of Madison, calling for a joint committee to investigate the condition of forestation and of water power in the state, and report to the legislature by April.

REVOLT IN PORTUGAL ENDED, REPORT SAYS

Lisbon, Feb. 10.—About three hundred persons were killed in the insurrection in Lisbon. The revolt ended Wednesday night at 10:30 p.m. after a Reuter dispatch from the Portuguese capital Thursday. The correspondent said the city was quiet and that order had been restored throughout the country. A large number of persons, including non-combatants, he added, were killed or wounded in Lisbon during the fighting between the insurgents and the loyal troops, and the property damage is extensive.

The revolution broke out in the capital at noon Monday, supported by naval men, a portion of the Republican guard, police and a large number of civilians. The insurgents erected barricades in various parts of the city, and the government took energetic measures to crush the movement, ordering out all loyal detachments of the Lisbon garrison who directed an intense machine-gun fire on the insurgents.

Juvenile Association Wants
Cars Used for Immoral
Purposes Confiscated

Madison, Feb. 10.—The cigarette tax bill brought a group of indignant drug store owners and billiard hall proprietors before the senate committee in charge of the bill late Wednesday. One after another the denouncers offered arguments against the feasibility of such taxation. The bill had been introduced by Senator H. Teasdale, Sparta.

The proposed tax was called a "pest," and "invitation to more bootlegging, which would involve young and old," and if passed would be "the most unpopular law the state ever attempted to enforce."

After strenuous arguments the opponents asked that the bill be set over until another of the same description introduced in the assembly could be discussed in conjunction with it. They offered no further objections, apparently being convinced that the bill would be unfavorably reported. It would establish a tax by weight of the cigarettes, the tax on popular brands amounting to 2 cents.

Discussing another bill introduced by Senator Teasdale relating to fining of drivers of motor vehicles used in transportation of persons intent on immoral purposes, social workers defended the bill as their only weapon against profligate immorality. Women members of the Juvenile Protection association, asked if the bill couldn't be made to read "all cars used for immoral purposes be confiscated," the same as in the case of liquor or game violations.

INVOLVE LEOPOLD IN JAIL-BREAKING PLAN

Had Thousands of Dollars
Concealed in Cell, Condemned Man States

Joliet, Feb. 10.—New statements that Xmas Leopold had part in the jail break plot at the state penitentiary, which resulted in the killing of a prison deputy here last summer have been offered by two of the six convicts sentenced to die for the murder of the officer.

The youthful slayer of Bobby Franks had thousands of dollars concealed in his solitary cell to aid in an escape and would have joined his fellow prisoners in their dash for freedom if they could have found a key to release him, Charles Duchowski asserted.

Duchowski's statements were partly corroborated by Charles Shander, another of the six who were saved from being hanged Friday morning by a stay of execution order giving them opportunity to appeal the case.

The governor and the parole board have refused to intervene. It indicated that the testimony would be introduced when the case is reviewed by the state supreme court some time before March 4.

THREE MEN REPORTED KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Pottsville, Feb. 10.—Three men were reported killed and a number entombed as a result of a gas explosion at the Phoenix Park Colliery, Philadelphia, five miles from Pottsville. Two dead have been recovered.

Wealthy Indian Maiden Answers Ola Nomad Call

Vinita, Okla., Feb. 10.—Sacrificing luxuries offered by a fortune estimated at millions of dollars for the thrills and freedom of the open highways, Maude Lee Mudd, 18-year-old Oklahoma Indian heiress Thursday resumed her wanderings, with fears for her safety greatly allayed.

Restricted in the management of some of her rich oil and mine properties, but at liberty to travel and spend her money as she pleases, she appeared here Wednesday, only to leave again without explaining her mysterious disappearance more than a year ago, when she left her white husband shortly after the marriage.

In explaining her actions she said she "wanted to avoid lawyers," and all other persons who persisted in asking questions about her personal affairs.

William Sims, her guardian, and J. S. Martin, her banker, aided in guarding out all loyal detachments of the Tulsa garrison who directed an intense machine-gun fire on the insurgents.

STATE SENATE REJECTS HIM BY ONE VOTE

Goodland Defends Jones in Debate—Upholds Record
as "Square Shooter"

Madison, Feb. 10.—By a single vote the state senate Thursday refused to confirm the appointment of Benjamin J. Davis, as commissioner of agriculture to succeed John D. Jones, Jr.

The vote came after three hours of debate Wednesday and an hour's discussion Thursday morning over the qualifications of the Pewaukee man. The vote was 17 to 16 against confirmation.

The roll call on the confirmation was as follows:

Noes—Barber, Cashman, Chase, Englund, Giffelman, Goodland, Hull, Johnson, Keppel, Michigan, Roethe, Hunt, Ruffing, Sauthoff, W. L. Smith, Teasdale and Titus.

Ayes—Blanchard, Boldt, Caldwell, Carroll, Casperson, Daggett, Hatchell, Smith, Matthews, Morris, Mueller, Polakowski, Schumann, Severson, H. H. Smith and White.

The debate over the confirmation of Dr. Davis was opened by Senator Goodland, Racine, who declared that before the advent of John D. Jones, Jr., as commissioner of agriculture, the state fair was "full of cheap shows and ballyhoo artists." The exposition was "altogether improper," he said, and "lost $15,000 for the state at that time."

JONES SQUARE SHOOTER
After Mr. Jones came in office, the fair made money because it was being conducted by a "square shooter," he would like to have the farmers of the state vote to show their sentiment toward Mr. Jones.

"Senator Schumann declared Wednesday that he had evidence against Mr. Jones, but if the Senator from the Thirty-third has anything on him, it is his duty to bring it before the senate."

Replying to Senator Goodland's comments, Senator Schumann, Watertown, said he did not accuse Mr. Jones of corruption but "challenged his ability." The state fair, he said, is not a "big show" but a "big show" and is interested only in making a reasonable living, he said.

MUST NAME ANOTHER
As a result of the vote, Governor Zimmerman probably will soon find another name before the upper house for confirmation. The Waterbury senator charged that Mr. Jones and Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, had tried to convince the board of directors of a proposed co-

"HONEST" THIEF TAKES TIRES FROM GAS STATION

An "honest" burglar broke into the filling station on the corner of Wisconsin and Leminawest early Wednesday morning and stole five tires, it was reported Wednesday to police by Fred Lynch, operator of the station.

The burglar was "honest," as burglars go, is indicated by the fact that no more than five tires were confiscated, although there was a large stock on hand. The intruder evidently despaired of buying a new set of tires for his car next spring. Nothing else was missing, Mr. Lynch reported.

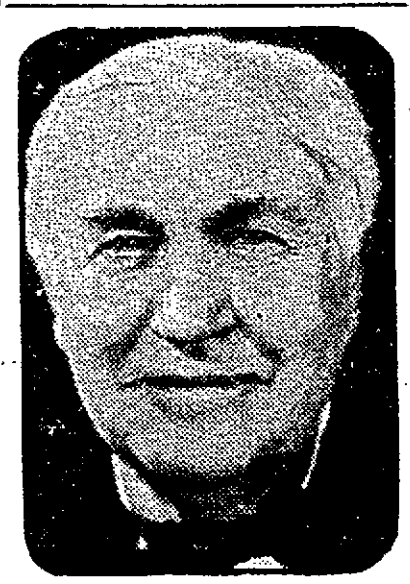

Entrance was gained through a side door with a skeleton key, according to police.

ALLEGED OKLAHOMA MAN HAS KILLED 18 PERSONS

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 10.—A record of having killed 18 men was credited Thursday by Oklahoma City officers to J. M. Saunders, arrested here a few days ago in connection with an effort to dispose of $23,000 worth of Liberty bonds, when they arrived to return him to Oklahoma. He is wanted there on charges of forgery. Saunders formerly was connected with the Oklahoma Bankers association as an officer, it was said.

OCTOGENARIAN

New York, Feb. 10.—Thomas Alva Edison, Thursday stands on the threshold of the realm of the octogenarians. Friday is his eightieth birthday.

A reception in his home, which Henry Ford, a close friend, will attend and the annual meeting in Newark of the Edison pioneers, a group of men associated with the wizard of Menlo Park for many years, will be special features of the day.

The daily routine of the noted inventor was described by William H. Meadowcroft, a laboratory assistant. "He gets up about 6:30 in the morning," said Mr. Meadowcroft and comes down to the laboratory about 7:10. Then he's at his experiments all day, quitting about 6 or 7 o'clock in the evening. He goes home and has dinner, and the rest of the evening, say, until 11 or 12 o'clock is spent in reading. He reads prodigiously."

OPEN HABEAS CORPUS ACTION IN ARREST OF CHARLES BIRGER

Proceedings to Determine Whether Gangster Is Captive of Franklin-co

Mount Vernon, Ill., Feb. 10.—Charles Birger, gang leader, Thursday withdrew application for habeas corpus with Circuit Judge J. C. Kern in court here, and Birger was taken by Sheriff James S. Pritchard and deputies to the Franklin-co jail at Benton on warrant charging complicity in the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Feb. 10.—Habeas corpus proceedings Thursday are to determine whether Charles Birger, southern Illinois gangster, is to be delivered into the hands of James Pritchard, sheriff of Franklin-co., the home of the rival Shelton gangsters, or gain release under bond.

Birger, charged with complicity in the murder of Joe Adams, Mayor of West City, which is in Franklin-co., was in the hands of neutral officers Thursday after being the object of much maneuvering on the part of authorities from Franklin and Saline counties. Sheriff Pritchard tried to take him into custody at Harrisburg, Ill., but was repulsed by deputy sheriffs at the Saline-co. town. Mount Vernon is in neighboring Jefferson-co.

The issuance late Wednesday by Circuit Judge J. C. Kern here of an order for the gangster to appear in habeas corpus proceedings prevented what was feared would be trouble between the authorities of Saline and Franklin counties. Reports had been current in Harrisburg that the gangster had offered to defend himself from Pritchard with a machine-gun, which he was said to have in his cell. Deputies at Harrisburg admitted giving him the gun "for protection" against rival gangsters.

ARREST 40 IN CLEANUP OF BROADWAY STAGE

New York, Feb. 10.—Forty actresses, actors, producers and managers, arrested in three Broadway theaters on charge of participation in immoral productions, were under bond Thursday pending further hearings. Arrests will be repeated each night the plays are produced. Acting Mayor Joseph McKee announced.

"Sex," "The Captive" and "The Virgin Man" were the plays affected by Wednesday night's arrests. Mae West star of "Sex," Basil Rathbone and Helen Menken of "The Captive," and Don Dillaway and Dorothy Fitt of "The Virgin Man" were held in $1,000 bail when they were arraigned in night court. The others were held in $500 each.

"The Captive" and "Sex" were acquitted of immorality by the citizen jury jury, sponsored by District Attorney Benjamin.

Mayor Francis Walker, on a vacation in Havana, is aware of the cleanup procedure, Mr. McKee said, and has voiced his approval of the crusade.

GUMM IS OUSTED FROM REAL ESTATE BOARD

Milwaukee, Feb. 10.—Confirmation of the removal of W. Gumm, Milwaukee, chairman of the state real estate brokers board, by Governor Zimmerman, was given Thursday at the office of Mr. Gumm, who is out of the city. Mr. Gumm's secretary said Mr. Gumm had received a letter advising him he had been removed.

NO THIRD TERM FOR COOLIDGE, LEADERS SAY

Washington Political Circles
Convinced He Will Not Be Candidate

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge will not be the Republican presidential candidate in 1928. That Thursday was a belief amounting practically to conviction in political circles here. The third term issue raised in his own party by Dr. Nichols Murray Butler was not unexpected. It had merely been a question of who would do it and when it would be done.

It was bruited about the capitol Thursday that unless it becomes evident that the president is to take himself out of the campaign an "anti-third term league" would be formed and backed by ample funds. The burden of its campaign would be that George Washington, the father of this country, served only eight years, and every tradition of the country is against the breaking of the precedent set by the first President.

"If" said one senator whose name cannot be given, "the tradition is ever broken, what is there to prevent an incumbent from seeking a third or fourth term?"

Dr. Butler by raising the issue earned the devout thanks of the adherents of Herbert Hoover, Charles G. Dawes, Frank O. Lowden, Nicholas Longworth, Charles Evans Hughes, et al. As long as there is a possibility of President Coolidge being a candidate for re-nomination those men or their adherents are stopped. But obviously none of them could suggest the inadvisability of President Coolidge seeking a term which would run him over the limit of time served by any President.

Strangely enough the Butler statement came just at a time when Democratic party leaders had become con-

Ashland, Feb. 10.—M. S. Marx, druggist at Odanah near here was found brutally murdered in the store building early Thursday morning. His body was beaten in apparently with a poker which was found in the room, and both wrists were slashed as though to make sure of death. A note found on the table near the bed on which Marx was lying said "I am tired of living" and was signed in the druggist's handwriting.

County officers believe from the condition of the body that Marx was forced to write the note by the murderers. A roundup of suspected men is being made at the present time.

NO GOOD WHISKY LEFT IN STATE, GUNDERSON SAYS

Madison, Feb. 10.—All the "real bonded liquor" in Wisconsin, with the exception of "straight" whisky, is fake, according to the report issued by L. C. Gunderson, who retired last month as state prohibition commissioner.

More than 10,000 samples of liquor seized since 1921 and tested by H. H. Lamper, former chemist and chief of the department, revealed that virtually all of the "real stuff" bore fake labels and forged revenue stamps.

Wood alcohol, benzene, sulphuric ether, benzol, camphor, chloroform, and the plain household variety either and the same of whisky, are among the "knock-out" drops discovered by Mr. Lamper's tests. Mr. Lamper remarks:

There also is very little good beer available, according to the "real stuff" which asserts that the "real stuff" is made simply by adding three to five per cent of alcohol to near beer.

SLEUTHS GET EVIDENCE
Political Battle of Good Government Club Launches
Crusade

Green Bay, Feb. 10.—The Brown-co "clean up" campaign instigated three months ago by Samuel LaViolette, unsuccessful candidate for the office of district attorney, when he retained a Milwaukee detective firm to gather evidence, opened here Thursday morning when Mrs. Minnie Birmingham was arraigned in municipal court on two counts charging liquor law violation. It is expected that the number of warrants to be returned will total 160.

One of the counts against Mrs. Birmingham was brought by B. C. Parkin, a prohibition agent, who has been working in Green Bay since Tuesday, and the other was based on affidavits of two operatives of the Milwaukee agency working here in conjunction with LaViolette's campaign. Mrs. Birmingham's case was adjourned until Feb. 15 on bond of $500.

The campaign on saloon keepers, gamblers, proprietors of dives and liquor law violators was started in Brown-co Thursday when the district attorney's office issued approximately 150 warrants, according to Raymond E. Evans, district attorney.

Evans said the warrants, which are to be served on 107 establishments in Brown-co, name about 160 law violators. The campaign came after a compilation of evidence extending over a period of three months by operatives of a "clean up" agency of Milwaukee working in conjunction with the federal authorities.

A political battle, and the determination of the Good Government club, of this city, to effect a cleanup of the city and the county, started the crusade. The club, which has a membership of about 100, stands the figure of Samuel LaViolette, counsel for the club and defeated candidate for the office of district attorney of Brown-co.

Mr. LaViolette, in his campaign, charged that Green Bay and Brown-co were "wide open." Officers of the club made numerous campaign statements and issued literature which resulted in their arrest on charges of violation of the corrupt practices act, charges which were dismissed Wednesday by Judge Henry Grant, except in one case in which the court ordered the defendant to stand trial in April.

But while all this was going on, Mr. LaViolette brought the detectives to the city and put them to work, with instructions to seek out the dens of family and vice and the liquor selling saloons, roadhouses and dance halls, and to find the gamblers and obtain evidence which might be used in prosecutions.

The private detectives, Val Jasinski and Leo Benjamin, were joined several days ago by State Prohibition Agents Ben Parkinson, Robert Hillery, E. O. Stevenson and Fred Schultz, chief deputy, all of whom were working under the direction of Roland W. Dixon, the new state prohibition commissioner.

Wednesday they turned over their evidence and brought to the office of the prosecutor local witnesses who had worked with the operatives and the dry agents and examination of reports showed that more than 100 men and women are charged with violating the liquor laws, a score are alleged to have operated houses of ill fame, while others will be charged with operating gambling houses, or with manufacturing machine guns.

The operatives have not less than two counts on each of the dry law violators," said Howard W. Russell, head of the detective agency. "The offense occurred on different dates in each instance and the former chemist and chief of the department, revealed that virtually all of the "real stuff" bore fake labels and forged revenue stamps.

Mrs. Barry and Miss Lueders
Cast for Leading Parts in
"Mary Lou"

Mrs. Bertha Barry as the domineering wife will play the most prominent part in "Mary Lou," musical comedy to be given at Fischer's Appleton Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the benefit of the 12th Field Artillery band. A charming dancing role is played by Miss Myrtle Lueders, ingenue of the play. She has been a pupil at the J. F. Barnhart dancing academy for several years.

A list of important roles have been cast by Mrs. Barry in "Mary Lou," which will be presented Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at Fischer's Appleton Theatre for the benefit of the 12th Field Artillery band.

Mrs. Barry is "at her best" in "Mary Lou," according to Mrs. Barnhart, who with her husband is directing the play. The local actress plays the part of the suffragette wife who battles her husband into following her wishes in everything. The amusing plot of the play comes in the revolt of the husband.

A vivacious, clever and attractive young dancer has been revealed in Miss Lueders, the directors agreed. She will have two numbers, one with a dance with Rodney Cox. Miss Lueders is a student at Appleton high school.

Four solo "Mary Lou" dances will be features of the performance. Different types of Mary Lou will be shown by Miss Myrtle Lueders, Miss Eleanor Vesper, Miss Ora Zuchke and Miss Vesper Chamberlain.

Reservations for seats opened Wednesday morning at Bell's drug store.

University President Declares
Tillers Must Work Out Own
Salvation

Plymouth — (AP)—Adherence to the principles of scientific production and cooperative distribution as displayed in the Danish agricultural renaissance will solve the problems of Wisconsin farmers, in the opinion of President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin.

Speaking before the Wisconsin Federation of Cheese Producers Wednesday, Dr. Frank pledged the support of the state university's agricultural college to all programs looking toward solution of farm depression and discontent.

American agriculture at the present time, he said, needs a statesman and not a showman. The latter is finding the support of those desiring some "dramatic" happening in which the old fades away quickly and a new heaven and a new earth appear.

"The problem of permanent farm prosperity in Wisconsin," he said, "will never, in my judgment, be solved by governmental subsidy, by legislation, or by readymade organization planned by professors and promoted either by professional organizers or by men whose main interest in the corporate activities of farmers is to use them as a stepping stone to a political career."

"The problem of permanent farm prosperity in Wisconsin will be solved when the rank and file of farmers in Wisconsin achieve both the willingness and the ability to take into their own hands the distribution and sale of the products of their agricultural products. And the farmers of Wisconsin will never, in my judgment, be able to conduct successfully any marketing scheme that they are unable themselves to conceive. I am trying to say that, in my judgment, the problem of permanent farm prosperity in Wisconsin must be solved from the bottom up, not from the top down."

Ninth District Congressman
Refuses to Attend Republican
Meeting

Washington, D. C.—The breach in the Wisconsin house delegation over attendance at the Republican caucus a week from next Monday showed no signs of healing.

Representative John M. Nelson, it is now believed, will attend the caucus. Congressman James A. Fear, probably will go and the attitude of Florian Lampert is in doubt.

Congressmen Schneider, Beck, Pearson, Cooper, Browne, Schacter and Congressman-elect Kading will not attend.

Instead of accepting the invitation extended to him and other members of the Wisconsin group by the republican leaders of the house, to attend the republican caucus, Representative George J. Schneider denounced the caucus system as a "discredited method of gathering members in secret," in a reply he issued to the republican leaders. The party caucus will be held on Monday, Feb. 21.

"The party caucus," Representative Schneider declared in his refusal to attend the meeting, "I had believed was a thing of the past."

"I will not now be a party in the attempt to resurrect it and bring back Cannibalism of old. I do not want to contribute to the effort of the leaders to muzzle free and independent expression and action of any member of my party."

"If I am to be bound by the decision of a prearranged secret caucus, I can not execute the duties of my office, which I must do to the best of my ability and not according to the will of a caucus."

TWIN CITIES MAY BUILD
SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

Madison — (AP)—The Twin Cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, may soon model a sewage disposal plant after the Milwaukee system, as the result of the Wisconsin members of the joint legislative committee on boundary problems outlining the Milwaukee plan in the committee meeting last week.

Upon their return from the Twin City meeting of the joint committee, the Wisconsin members reported favorable acceptance of their outline of ways to stop the pollution of the Mississippi river and Lake Pepin by dumping of sewage from the two major Minnesota cities.

The Wisconsin committee members are Assemblyman Theodore Swanson, Senator Walter H. Hunt and former assemblyman Charles B. Perry.

NO ORDINANCE ON VICIOUS DOGS IS NECESSARY HERE

City Physician Says Bites from Animals Are Rare in Appleton

Appleton has no city ordinance regulating the care of vicious dogs, and none is necessary because of the small number of such cases each year according to Dr. W. C. Felton, city health officer. During the past year only one such case was brought to his attention.

Dr. Felton recently received a question on the matter from Dr. Fred R. Welch, city health officer at Janesville, who wanted to determine how many cities in the state have regulations dealing with vicious dogs.

Following is the list of questions asked the local physician and the answers which he gave:

"Does your city have an ordinance covering the control of vicious dogs for the benefit of public safety?" Answer, "No."

"Does your city have an ordinance for the prevention and 'control' of rabies?" Answer, "No."

"Does your city have regulations for the reporting of dog-bites to the health department?" Answer, "No."

"What measures are taken by the city health department when a person is bitten by a dog with suspected rabies?" Answer, "We keep the dog under observation for about a week. If he still continues to show signs of rabies we kill him, cut off the head and send it to the state health department at Madison. If, in the examination of the dog's brain there, it is revealed that the dog really had rabies, we immediately treat the struck person for rabies."

"Are dogs suspected of rabies kept in the city pound?" Answer, "No."

Dr. Felton pointed out that it is not necessary to treat a person for rabies until 21 days after the accident occurs. There is no need of treating the person until it has been absolutely established that the offending dog really had the rabies. These instances occur so seldom that it is practically unnecessary to have a city ordinance against such cases.

He further pointed out that dogs are not kept by as many families now as formerly. In most cases of dog bite it can be shown that the person receiving the bite had been teasing the animal who was merely trying to defend itself in its own way, according to Dr. Felton.

SCHOOL SUPERVISOR IS VISITING COUNTY

G. H. Landgraf, supervisor of state graded schools, is spending the latter part of the week in the county inspecting rural schools. The inspection probably will last Thursday and Friday, he indicated in a letter to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. He arrived in Appleton late Wednesday, having completed an inspection in Brown county earlier in the week.

To Those Who Suffer Stomach
Distress, Gas and Indigestion

Voigt's Drug Store Makes This Offer
Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness and bloating from an overworked, abused or weak stomach that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You think perhaps you are suffering. You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and speedily the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have them at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can overcome dyspepsia, or that condition of faulty digestion that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

Over 6,000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—and the best druggists the country over concede that its phenomenal sales are due to the fact that most cases are promptly relieved. Ask for Dare's Mentha Pepsin, pleasant to take, health-building stomach elixir that Voigt's Drug Store and regular pharmacists anywhere in America guarantee.

200 ATTEND FIRST GENERAL MEETING OF SAFETY CLASS

Foremen Told Accidents Cause Economic Waste and Should Be Prevented

More than 200 men from factories in Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Oshkosh, Little Chute, Kimberly, Appleton and Appleton attended the opening meeting of the Foreman's Safety School in Knights of Pythias hall on Wednesday evening. The school is sponsored by Appleton Vocational school, Appleton Chamber of Commerce, Wisconsin Industrial commission and industries of the Fox river valley.

Dr. H. K. Pratt, president in the place of E. H. Jennings, president of Appleton Chamber of Commerce, who was unable to attend. Mr. Jennings is the chairman of the school committee. Herb Helle, director of the vocational school, made a brief address on Why We Have a Safety School. He outlined the vocational school's connections with industry. He said that the school is anxious to be of service to the adults as well as to children.

SAFETY PAYS
R. G. Knutson, representative of the Wisconsin Industrial commission gave the address of the evening on Safety Pays. He spoke of the human waste in industry and told of possibilities for eliminating this waste.

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce talked about the purpose of the school. H. G. Noyes, general secretary of the safety school and director of the paper and pulp making classes offered in vocational schools of the valley outlined the essentials for making the school a success.

The school is open to foremen, their assistants, superintendents, managers, safety supervisors, members of safety committees and others designated by employers.

The second general meeting will be held on Wednesday, March 8. Safety consciousness will be the topic of an address by L. C. Sagemiller of the Evnrud Motor company, Milwaukee.

The last general meeting will be on March 30 in conjunction with the annual Old Timer's banquet sponsored by the chamber of commerce. E. J. Hudson of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce will give an address of Fun, Fellowship and Fellowship. Certificates will be awarded at that meeting to all men who have attended the school regularly.

Sectional meetings will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 16; Wednesday, Feb. 23; Wednesday, March 16; Wednesday, March 23.

TWO NON-SUPPORTERS SENTENCED TO JAIL

Two men, pleading guilty Thursday morning in municipal court to charges of non-support, each were sentenced by Judge Theodore Berg to one year in the county jail under the F. B. law. They are John Bruse, Appleton, and Albert Rosenberg, Jr., Black Creek.

In compliance with the law, Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke will find work for both men, but each will be expected to spend his nights in the jail. Part of the wages will be turned over to the sheriff every week for the men's families.

Bruse, who was arrested several weeks ago for failing to provide for two minor children, admitted his guilt Thursday.

Rosenberg, charged with failing to support his wife, waived preliminary hearing and pleaded guilty. He is presently being lodged in the county jail about a week after his wife, Olga, was confined there following her arrest in the city for disorderly conduct. She is still in the jail.

BOYS TAKE CHARGE OF LUNCHEON MEETINGS

A boys program has been planned for meetings of Rotary and Kiwanis clubs next week by students of Appleton high school. The same talks have been arranged for both meetings. The programs will be held in honor of Boys week from Feb. 14 to 20.

William Lee, president of the senior class, will preside at the meetings and will take the place of the club presidents. Five high school boys will speak: They are Mr. Lee, William High School Activities Can Do for the High School Student; Dan Steinberg, captain of the basketball team, The Need for Athletics; Robert Mitchell, president of the student council, The Need of a New Senior High School in Appleton; Aloysius Gage, president of the junior class, Quality Education; and Teacher Carl Nelson, editor of the Clarion, school yearbook, How the Luncheon Clubs Can Cooperate with the Schools. The high school band will play several selections under the direction of Carl S. McKee.

NO THIRD TERM FOR COOLIDGE, BELIEF

vinced that President Coolidge would make a try for "a third cup of coffee." With this thought in mind Democrats had begun to discuss the practicability of shelving tax, tariff and prohibition issues, and making their campaign an "anti-third term" battle.

The machinery of the Republican party is in the hands of the President Coolidge and if he so desires there is no question that he can bring about his own re-nomination and many believe dictate his party nominee as certainly as Roosevelt dictated the nomination of Taft in 1912. And with the conviction growing that the President will not be a candidate there is speculation as to the help apparent when he steps out. Herbert Hoover, most observers believe, would be the fair-haired boy of the Coolidge favor.

There is another school of thought which holds that although the President could undoubtedly bring about his own re-nomination, he could not transfer the Coolidge delegates to any other man.

CORN BELT VIEW

The corn belt especially would emit a loud roar at any suggestion of Hoover, whom it blames for the Coolidge agricultural policy. Turn any Republican convention loose, some of the sagacious observers in Washington say, and it would nominate Frank O. Lowden, or failing in that, Charles G. Dawes, and it is Dawes and Lowden led of all whom President Coolidge would favor. Persons closer to the president report a brand new air of coldness towards Dawes in the general direction of the White House.

It was Dawes who a week ago got eastern and western farmers together and so arranged it that the McNary-Haugen bill could be brought up in the senate, and a filibuster against it avoided. President Coolidge may or may not veto the McNary-Haugen bill with which both branches of congress are now wrestling and probably will send to his desk next week, but the White House, resented the action of the vice president in speeding it there.

President Coolidge has been silent on what action he would take on the farm relief bill. Newspaper correspondents at the semi-weekly conferences with the president have regularly submitted the question to him. At each conference, however, he has shifted this question to the bottom and studiously ignored them.

FARM BILL ATTITUDE

Secretaries Mellon, Hoover, and Jardine have gone far out on the limb in opposition to the McNary-Haugen bill, and the president last year strongly opposed it. There are those who say that in the president's signature or veto of the McNary-Haugen bill will be written the answer to his 1928 intentions. They argue that if he signs it he will be a candidate. If he vetoes it he has made up his mind not to seek another term.

President Coolidge's fortunes so far as the senate is concerned is at its lowest ebb. Out of a membership of 35—there is a vacancy in Illinois—twice within the last two weeks the president failed to find 30 members, or less than a third of the senate, to support him. The nomination of Cyrus E. Woods had only 29 supporters, and only 27 senators stood with the president in opposition to the authorization of naval cruisers.

There have been straws within the last week to indicate that President Coolidge was preparing for another plunge. One of these was the breakfast attended by practically the entire Texas Republican organization. There is, however, some doubt just how much the Texas breakfast meant.

The Creager organization represented at the breakfast recently had taken some hard buffeting at the hands of majority leader Tilson and Chairman Woods of the Republican Congressional committee, who supported Congressman Vurzbach, the lone Republican congressman from Texas, and who is constantly at war with the Creager faction.

As Tilson and Woods are both close to the White House, many now believe that the Coolidge breakfast to the Creager faction was merely a nice way of evening things up in Texas so as to make every one feel good and really did not mean a thing.

KINDERGARTEN PUPILS IN CLASS DEMONSTRATION

Morning kindergarten children, and pupils of the first, second and third grades of Columbus school will have a "Go to School Night" Thursday evening. Teachers will demonstrate their methods to parents of the pupils. Invitations were sent to each parent to come to the meeting which will be held from 7 to 8 o'clock in the classrooms. A social time will follow when parents and teachers can talk over school problems.

The afternoon class of kindergarten pupils will not have a demonstration as there would be too many for the teachers to handle both classes at one time.

GRANT APPLICATIONS FOR AID TO 2 MOTHERS

The mother's pension and old age pension committee Wednesday allowed applications for two new mother's pensions, eight renewals for mother's pensions, and three old age pensions. The committee met in county court. Applications for old age pensions are acted on the first Wednesday every month, and those for mother's pensions on the second Wednesday of the month.

EXPECT CAL TO VETO PRESENT FARM BILL

three, even though all three might be desirable appointments. No such blanket restriction on the executive power of appointment has ever been made by congress.

Entirely apart from this provision there still remains the question of how far the farm board would go in the realm of price-fixing, a principle that is fundamentally obnoxious to the president. The friends of the McNary-Haugen bill argue that the board would merely in an emergency withhold the surplus from the export market and that this automatically would affect the price, but the president does not like the idea of having a government board accept the responsibility for affecting market prices.

FAVORS CURTIS-CRISP BILL

The Curtis-Crisp bill, on the other hand, which the president favors, would have a 12-man board appointed by the president and this board would in emergencies aid in the formation of private corporations out of the co-operatives and the government would extend the necessary credits to these corporations whenever the latter decided to withhold their product from markets to affect the price. But the responsibility for price-fixing would be on the farm corporations themselves.

Politically a veto of the McNary-Haugen bill will affect Mr. Coolidge's fortunes to a large extent. It would alienate Republicans in the middle west, but the friends of Mr. Coolidge think he has lost that group anyhow, whereas if he signed the McNary-Haugen bill he would forfeit the support and friendship of eastern Republicans who would view the signature as the surrender of a conviction to political expediency. Mr. Coolidge will stick to his convictions if the bill comes to his unmodified.

PROMOTION OF MARKETING

Washington.—(P)—Promotion of orderly marketing of certain basic agricultural commodities and control and disposition of crop surpluses to prevent price fluctuations are, in a broad way, the principal aims of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill upon which the senate and house are approaching a vote.

The commodities affected by the measure are cotton, wheat, corn, rice and swine. An effort is to be made to add tobacco to this list.

Whenever the board determines that a surplus exists, or as like to occur in the ensuing year, it may declare "an operating period" for any basic commodity. The board's duty during such a period would be to assist co-operatives in "renewing or withholding or disposing of the surplus," and the initial funds for these operations would come out of at $250,000.00 revolving fund which the bill provides.

EQUALIZATION FEE

To reimburse this revolving fund, or stabilization fund, an equalization fee is imposed upon producers of the crop for which an operating period has been declared. The measure also would permit loans from the stabilization fund to co-operatives without the equalization fee requirements in an effort to control surpluses, a provision which resembles the loan features of the Fess and Tinecher bills of last session.

The bill declares that the only cost to the government shall be the expenses of the board, for which $500,000 is provided, the theory being that all other costs are to be paid out of the equalization fee.

INSURANCE INCREASED BY NEARLY A MILLION

The names of 655 new members of $874,000 in insurance was added to the books of the Aid Association Lutherans during the first month of 1927, according to reports made at a February meeting of the association trustees Tuesday. The gain for January 1927, over January 1926 was 14 members and $207,000 insurance. The juvenile department, established last year, is progressing rapidly, it was reported. In January 149 juvenile certificates were issued with $108,250 insurance.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. adv.

GARAGE CONVERTED INTO TEMPORARY JAIL FOR WANDERING FOX

The good old days when Chief Hootchi Kootchie and his Indian braves roamed the verdant forests of the Fox River valley for his daily meat instead of his daily drink are not gone forever. If you don't believe it page J. J. Plank!

Wednesday morning the neighborhood of the J. J. Plank Co., N. Clark-st., was thrown into turmoil by a swishing of grey fur through backyards under fences and in and out of outbuildings. Hysterical mothers with visions of a timber wolf gone amuck kept their offspring indoors while more venturesome males conducted an investigation. After considerable maneuvering the investigators got close enough to the visitor to tabulate him, as a grey fox and a little later Herr Reynard sneaked into a garage and while he was resting the doors were closed and he became a prisoner.

Now his captors haven't any particular use for a grey fox but they don't want to kill him until they are assured he isn't somebody's pet. It is possible he (or she) escaped from a fox farm near here, or maybe a nearby amateur one of his proteges. Telephone zoo owner is lamenting the loss of quarry, however, has failed to locate an owner. Mr. Plank figures one fox isn't enough to start a fox farm and he doesn't know what to do with his guest. Help! Help!

LITTLE FOLKS TO DEMONSTRATE MUSIC

Kindergarten Pupils Will Have First Part of Music Clinic Program

Kindergarten music will be demonstrated at the school music clinic at 7:30 Wednesday evening, March 9 at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Dr. Earl L. Baker, supervisor of music, announced at the meeting of kindergarten teachers at the First ward school building Wednesday afternoon. Children will be accompanied by their parents to the chapel. A group of 30 children of five years old will represent the kindergartens. Teachers were asked to select four or five of their best singers soon in order to start work on the clinic songs. The annual school clinic will be held March 9, 10 and 11.

Directions for teaching songs and rhythm were given. Miss Kathryn Fritschler, assistant teacher in the First ward school kindergarten, demonstrated the teaching of songs to young children. A group of her pupils were used in the exhibition.

Menasha—Mrs. William Laemrich and Miss Nettie Tuchscherer were chairman of the card party given by ladies of St. Mary church Wednesday afternoon and evening in St. Mary school building. The prize winners at schafkopf in the afternoon were Mrs. E. Peterson of Oakkosh, Mrs. H. Schiffer, Jr. Mrs. J. Pruchnoski; whist, Mrs. Ida Crawford, Mrs. Jason Williams; bridge, Mrs. Theodore Succs, Mrs. Philip Gazecki. The prize winners in the evening were: Rummy, Miss Rosemarie Hefli; whist, Mrs. Ida Crawford, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Joseph Schneider; schafkopf, Mrs. George Eayen, Mrs. Paul Malchow, Mrs. T. Liemann, William Laemrich, Joseph Lichausser, bridge, Miss Dorothy Stulp, Mrs. Fred Stulp, Mrs. Edward Seithamer.

Menasha club held a card party Wednesday evening for members and their ladies. Bridge was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Hugh Strange, Mrs. W. O. Allen, Norman Brokaw and W. J. Downing. Lunch was served. The committee in charge of the party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Jones, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. S. Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trilling and Mr. and Mrs. Stoppenbach of Shawana.

At the meeting of the Catholic Sisters of America at Knights of Columbus hall Wednesday evening plans were made for a dance for members and their friends the latter part of February. The business meeting was followed by a birthday surprise party for charter members planned by Mrs. F. M. Corry, organizer, and Mrs. S. E. Crockett, grand regent. It was the seventh anniversary of the organization and a pleasant feature of the celebration was a birthday cake decorated with seven candles which were served as part of the refreshments.

Mrs. Joseph Riley entertained the Every Other Thursday afternoon club.

The Post-Crescent
Offers a New Booklet
On Correct English.

"The Word Book" is a guide to correct speech and writing. It shows words we misuse, words we misspell, words we mispronounce. Common mistakes and correct use are shown in 2809 cases of words frequently misused. The work has been prepared by authorities which compiled the latest dictionary.

Learn to speak and write correctly. Nothing is more helpful in business than the ability to say what you mean in a few well chosen words, in good English. To know the correct meaning and use of words is constantly valuable in social as well as business life.

Any reader may secure this helpful booklet for six cents postage and handling cost.

MOTORISTS SPEND BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR ON ROADS

Money Goes for Building and Maintaining Highways in America

Washington.—The cost of building and maintaining roads in this country amounts to nearly one billion dollars a year and is being paid directly or indirectly by motorists who make use of the highways, according to a study made by Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, department of agriculture.

This cost represents the money spent each year just for country roads and does not include the expense of city streets.

"More interesting than the road development itself," said MacDonald, "are the various means employed to distribute highway costs among motorists in a just and convenient manner."

"State gasoline and registration taxes represent about half of this amount." The gasoline tax varies from one to five cents in the various states, while New Jersey, New York, Illinois and Massachusetts have no gas tax. These states depend upon the great number of automobile registrations to furnish revenue for road construction.

"Other important sources of revenue for highways are property taxes on automobiles of this country, federal excise tax on automobiles, parts and accessories and fines collected from motorists."

"There are also the taxes on property of the automobile manufacturer and buildings and lots devoted to motor car merchandising. The income and corporation taxes from motor business and the state, local, production, corporation or income taxes of the petroleum industry add to the road fund."

Federal aid also assists in road building, but its share is comparatively small, according to MacDonald, who says, "In the eight years from 1918 to 1925 the government has contributed $460,000,000 to help the states build roads."

"That is considerably less than half of what the country spent on roads in either 1924 or 1925. Moreover, in the same eight years that the government was distributing $460,000,000 to the states, it collected $573,000,000 in internal revenue taxes on motor cars, parts and accessories, so motorists furnish the money for this contribution."

For Sale! One Monkey; Apply To John Balliet

For Sale!—One fine monkey, Color brown. Size, small. Name, Mono. Remarks, rankish as they make "em, and trouble enough for whoever owns him. Nationality, Cuban. Price, What have you? Apply to John Balliet. This is not a paid want ad but may be John Balliet will authorize one like it.

Mr. and Mrs. Balliet returned Sunday from a two weeks' visit to Florida and Cuba and they brought along a monkey purchased at Havana. "And I've had nothing but trouble ever since," Mr. Balliet declared.

It seems Mono got loose in the baggage car of the train at Albany, Ga., and in the absence of the baggage master destroyed a flock of baggage checks. When the baggage master tried to remove Mono got peevish and bit his hand and the fled in terror as the enraged employee went after him with an axe provided "for use in case of fire only." Evidently the railroad thought this was fire enough. John had an awful job pacifying the baggage man and capturing his pet.

This escapade in the baggage car only seemed to whet Mono's appetite for more excitement because as soon as he arrived in Appleton he again broke loose and ran amuck in the Daihet kitchen. Mr. Balliet refused to confirm this report but it was said.

ENCAUSTIC PAINTING REVIVED FOR MURALS

San Francisco, (AP)—One of the large modern wall paintings by the encaustic method, originated by the ancient Greeks has been completed by Professor Ray Dorton of the University of California art department. It is in the dining room of the new Mark Hopkins hotel here.

Encaustic painting is applied on a coat of gum which protects it from dampness and which forms a permanent union with the material of the wall.

Professor Dorton hopes to see a revival of the encaustic method, by saying "because it leads to a stronger and more spirited handling of subjects, and to the development of a technique that is impossible to attain by painting on a canvas or in a studio and later fastening the work into the place."

In Hao, an island of French possession in the mid-Pacific, rats serve as mediums of exchange, and with a sufficient number a man can buy a wife.

that the "pet" destroyed a couple of vases, tipped over the flour bin and the sugar box and generally upset the kitchen.

Mr. Balliet expects in time that he will train his pet and teach him what "decent behavior" means. He further stated that he did not intend to buy a music box as was suggested by several of his friends. He indicated that he was firmly established in a good business and had no desire to change. Nevertheless he has the monkey and the monkey has a "devilish" nature. The problem is for John to train the monkey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wolf accompanied the Balliets on their trip to Florida and they have remained to spend an extra week in the south.

"I Was on the Rocks," Says Waukesha Man

Stomach trouble of over four years' standing, undermined health of Ben F. Nehs. Tanlac gave him 100% relief. Now in fine shape, recommends Tanlac from personal experience.

There is no doubt in the emphatic statement of Mr. Nehs, of 228 East Park Avenue, Waukesha, Wis., "Tanlac gave me first and full relief," he says. "For four or five years I suffered terribly from gas pressure caused by fermentation of food. It kept me no peace, but undermined my health and had me on the rocks. Often have I sat down to read, only to jump up from the chair owing to pain and pressure of gas about my heart. "Today at 55, I enjoy the best health I've had since my early youth. I have no hesitation in saying that Tanlac and Tanlac alone is responsible for my present splendid health. It gave me 100% relief from all those distressing symptoms, and I heartily recommend it."

Tanlac is nature's own remedy, made from roots, barks and herbs. If your health is low get a trial bottle of Tanlac from your druggist today. Over 22 million bottles already sold.

LIGHTING DEvised TO DISPLACE MANNEQUINS

London—(AP)—Mannequins will no longer be needed at big stores to display frocks if a new invention comes into universal use. Mrs. Suburbia and Lady Mayfair will be able to try on their frock themselves while still wearing their fur coats.

The scheme is something between a ghost mannequin and electricity. The would-be purchaser enters a small room and stands in front of a full-length mirror. Her body is made to "fade out" by special lighting, leaving the head in the mirror. Then a headless model dressed in a particular dress "comes through" and fits exactly under the head of the purchaser. If this means is successful several gowns could be tried on without the removal of any outdoor garment or the use of a mannequin.

REGULATING UTILITIES.
The League of Municipalities at a meeting in Madison has taken a stand against regulation of bus lines by the State Railroad commission. It objects to regulation of public utilities by this method and appears to demand a restoration of complete home rule in the relations between street railway, gas and electric companies and the municipalities. The convention in a general way condemns the increasing regulation of local affairs through state boards, commissions, etc. With this objection in principle we entirely agree. Regulation of local affairs by the legislature has reached a point where it is almost intolerable, and the rights of the cities are constantly being infringed by a body of law makers which knows nothing about their needs or problems, and their affairs are put under the control of administrative agencies that know even less. The recent regulation of building heights in cities was a flagrant abuse of legislative power.

With regard to public utilities, however, we cannot wholly agree with the conclusions of the League of Municipalities. We do think the local tax units should receive a larger percentage of the taxes paid by utilities, but when it comes to the regulation of rates, service, franchise rights, etc., we believe that Wisconsin's system is the best yet devised. It is certainly superior to the methods in vogue in other states where the cities deal directly with the public utilities and have a right to negotiate their own franchises and fix terms, rates, etc. Under this system there probably has been more scandal, corruption and maladministration than in any other branch of municipal government. Franchises have been handed away for a song and the rights of the public sold out for a generation to come. In addition, serious controversies are constantly arising, at times resulting in an entire suspension of service. Where aldermen have not sold out to the city public service corporations, their ignorance or incompetency has frequently been imposed upon. As a rule public service companies have the best of the situation, or else they are at loggerheads with the city.

It seems to us the Wisconsin system has worked out admirably not only for the protection of the municipality but for the proper safeguarding of the interests of public utilities. It has permitted the latter to operate at a profit, and it has saved the former from improvidence in giving away invaluable franchises and being worried by incompetent or corrupt officials. We think the public utility service throughout Wisconsin is better than in states where the cities have home control over the utilities. The rates might be slightly higher, although in some cases they will doubtless be found lower. In the main they are reasonable, and they are at all times subject to revision by established legal machinery, as well as by ethical methods. Service is also under such control. Wisconsin should be in no hurry to abandon a system of public utility regulation that has been widely copied throughout the country, that has brought about better relations between cities and utilities than ever existed before, and that on the whole has created a healthy public service condition.

OUR IMPROVED DIET.
With the modern development of refrigerator and cold storage freight cars and other means of transporting milk, fresh fruit and vegetables, the average American family is living on a finer diet, from the standpoint of health, than ever before. The seasonal feature of most vegetables and fruits has gradually been done away with until the whole United States eats tomatoes, lettuce, green peas, beans and spinach, peaches, pears and grapes the year around.

Within the memory of middle aged persons of today the average American diet was a sorry one consisting of pork and potatoes in the winter time and potatoes and bread and gravy in the summer time, with an occasional salad or dish of stewed fruit making its appearance from time to time.

The perfection of cold storage methods made it possible to keep many things of a seasonal nature so as to supply steady all-year demand. This was the first step toward a better diet for the American family. Then the refrigerator cars came into being, enabling fresh fruits and vegetables to be shipped for medium distances. Further development of freight cars and steamships has resulted in the supplying of the finest fruits and vegetables all over the land. The amount of meat consumed in the United States is enormous, but in the last few years the quantity of fruits and vegetables consumed has taken an upward turn that the supremacy of meat as the main article of the American menu is fast being threatened.

With the development of new articles for shipment, there came development of new methods of shipping, until today these perishable articles of food are transported great distances and arrive on the dinner table in the finest condition, a tribute to the program of cooperation between grower and shipper and the railroads.

PURGING THE STAGE.
America, especially the eastern part of the United States, has recently been suffering from an avalanche of putrid theatrical offerings that would put the old time burlesque in the shade as mid-Victorian pastime. Many of these have been low enough in tone to satisfy the depraved taste of even the most licentious libertines. There has been no limit to the depths of indecency to which many of these "plays" have gone under the smoke-screen of "realism."

Naturally there has been a revulsion of feeling among decent people. Even the most liberal minded person eventually comes up against that which puts his teeth on edge and makes him shudder at its rottenness. Soon the echoes of this revulsion reached the state capitol at Albany, New York, and legislators began to frame censorship bills to limit the scope of the stage.
Now, nothing could be more unfortunate than the enactment and enforcement of such legislation. It would be the entering wedge of a now too paternal government into a sphere that has so far escaped too stringent regulation. Realizing that their liberty of action was threatened, the theater managers immediately got together to clean up conditions from the inside.

Such action, while it is to be commended, is late and has been delayed just long enough to give very good grounds for doubting that the managers really want to keep the stage on a decent level. Indecent plays have always paid dividends. Yet during the last two or three years there have been several really good productions on Broadway that have paid just as handsomely. Perhaps the producers will decide now that decency really does pay and will keep the morale of the theater higher.

OLD MASTERS
The despot's heel is on thy shore, Maryland!
This torch is at thy temple door, Maryland!
Avenge the patriotic gore
That flecked the streets of Baltimore
And by the battle-queen of yore,
Maryland, my Maryland!
Thou wilt not cover in the dust,
Maryland!
Thy beaming sword shall never rust,
Maryland!
Remember Carroll's sacred trust,
Remember Howard's warlike thrust,
And all thy slumberers with the just,
Maryland, my Maryland!
I hear the distant thunder hum,
Maryland!
The old line's bugle, fife and drum,
Maryland!
She is not dead, nor dead, nor dumb,
Maryland!
She breathes! She burns! She'll come! She'll come!
Maryland, my Maryland!

A new town in Oklahoma has been named Lovell. It seems the Charleston hasn't found its way out there yet.
Naming towns for legs is a good idea, though Philadelphia might be called Pallen Arches, in memory of the Sesqui.
New York could be rechristened either Boodleg or, in honor of the night clubs, Clubfoot.
Charleston, S. C., might be renamed Knock-knees.
Twenty-eight thousand bottles of Canadian beer were seized in Florida. With Canada yet, it seems that booze is just bound to get over into the border states.

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

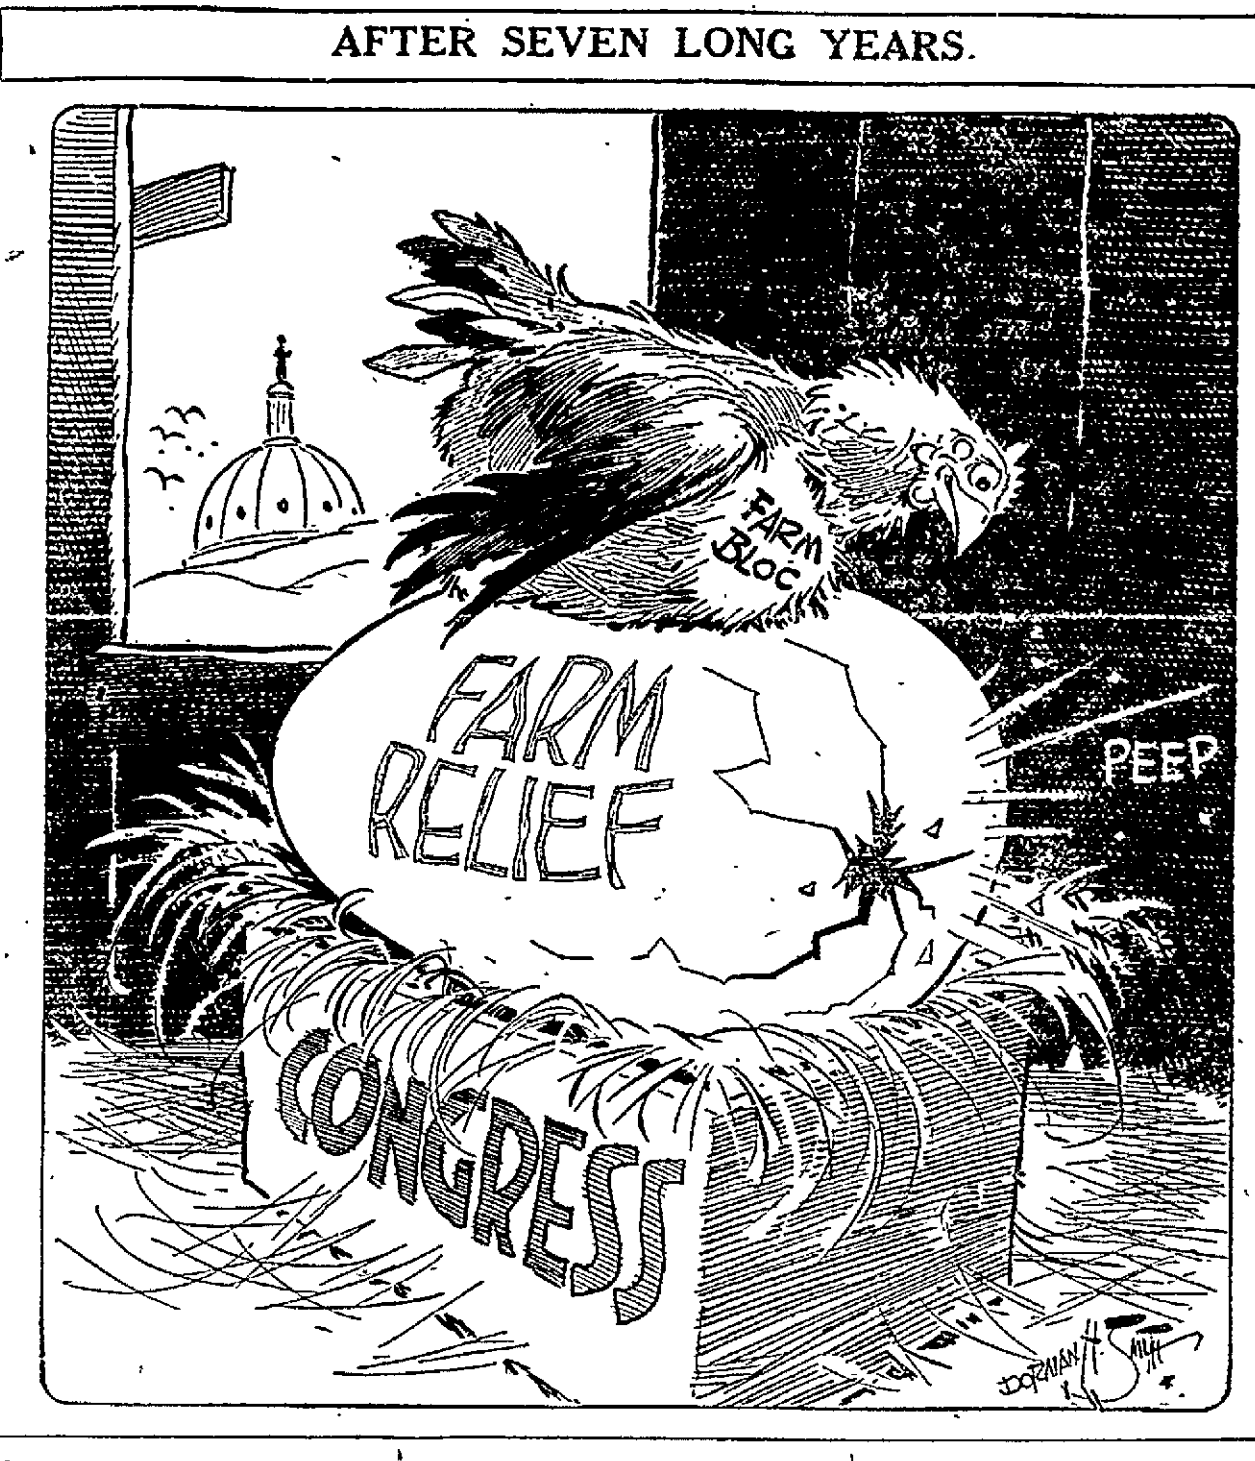

PRIZE PESSIMISTS
Who is the champion all around pessimist? I am not going to say, right out here in irrevocable and erratic print, but I wish to nominate as contenders for the prize the following egregious seers.
The zany who has had an operation at some time in his sad life and forever after ascribes his infirmities and tribulations to the operation, everything from adhesions to zoster.
The lugubrious bird that eats little or no cheese, milk, and one thing and another, because he thinks it is "binding."
The fishlike cult sure boob who goes unprotected and incidentally endangers others in the community, because his favorite chaparrain magazine tells him vaccination is a "filthy" thing.
The poor nymphet who fears he will come down with a bad cold if he gets caught in the rain or a draft or without his overcoats.
The microcephalic, wisenheim who refuses to have his children protected against diphtheria or even refuses to have the proper antitoxin administered to a child ill of diphtheria, because an aggressive attack heaters informs him such a treatment is advocated by the "medical trust."
The syphilitic sap who neglects treatment because an itinerant cart tail charlatan once told the crowd around his gasoline torch that mercury rots the bones.
The complacent victim of "overwork" "nervous exhaustion," "run down condition" or "general breakdown" who doesn't try to find out what ailment because he isn't quite sick enough to see a doctor.
The spineless health officer who unrepentingly submits to the misappropriation of the meagerly funds available for public health work in payment of salaries for "plumbing inspectors" because he hasn't the courage to tell the public that plumbing has nothing to do with the prevention of disease.
The glibbo goof who cultivates "catarrh" all his life because he thinks this climate is ideal for the purpose.
The antediluvian pterodactyl who tells unpleasant yarns to expectant mothers for the joy of worrying them about "marking" the baby.
The blooily beaked vulture who tells unsophisticated boys that immorality is indispensable for manhood.
The incompetent nurse that strives to keep her stock up by diagnosing and treating the ills of credulous folk.
The discouraged sufferer that tries to get his "message" over to a moribund audience at a lunch or dinner club.
The anonymous nut who expects to be taken seriously.
If this list of entries is incomplete I shall be glad to receive further nominations from readers who feel disposed to make them, but in no case shall a member of the medical profession be nominated unless he be other than regular. While I entertain no doubt that some regular doctors are awful egos, still I cannot permit any compromising references about them here, for somebody might suspect that the compliment refers to myself, I being, or having been when I made my living honestly, a regular physician.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
No Specialist
Please give the names and offices of a few doctors who are competent to treat arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries. (C. C.)
Answered—Any good doctor can treat such a patient. I know of no doctor particularly competent.
Soda Habit
Is a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a glass of water harmful to the stomach if taken daily? (S. M.)
Answer—Certainly it cannot hurt the stomach, but it is probably harmless if taken for a few days or a few weeks. Some physicians think the habitual use of soda (sodium bicarbonate, baking soda) in this way may be a contributing factor in the production of ulcer of the stomach. It seems to me that the theory on which the habitual use of soda is usually based is not sound. If there really is excessive acidity of the stomach, or acidosis of the system, persisting over a week or two, other and more rational treatment is needed.

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

SAVING LUMBER
Washington, D. C. — The utilization of short length lumber in the construction of small houses and farm buildings is urged by the construction subcommittee of the National Committee on Wood Utilization as a feature of the Hoover waste elimination program. Tens of millions of dollars can be saved annually, it is declared, and billions of feet of soft wood lumber can be conserved.
The National Committee is composed of over 400 members, representing manufacturers, distributors, and consumers of lumber and wood products, with Secretary Hoover as chairman.
In building and construction, as in nearly every branch of lumber-consuming industries, there is a definite use for lumber of short lengths, says the secretary in presenting the subcommittee's report. "At present, short lengths are seldom purchased as such, but are cut from long lengths at the point of consumption leaving a large quantity of short length lumber unutilized at the mills. This constitutes a serious waste of valuable raw material, the prevention of which is of equal interest to manufacturers, distributors and consumers."
The welfare of the Nation is to a large extent dependent on the perpetuation of our forests. The use of short lengths wherever practicable will lessen the drain on our timber resources, effect a saving in the cost of lumber to the consumer, and bring us one step closer to commercial reforestation through more efficient utilization of the raw material."
The report points out that the United States and Canada are the only countries in which short length lumber is not readily marketed for building and construction purposes, and it also states hundreds of thousands of small houses and farm structures are being built in this country every year, and wherever in their construction long lengths of lumber are used when short lengths would serve the purpose just as well, the result is waste.
WHEN ECONOMY WAS NOT IMPORTANT
Years ago, when conservation of forest products was not important, or at least did not appear to be so, the custom of demanding long lengths of lumber originated. But those times have passed, says the report, and with them must go the extravagant habits an apparently unlimited supply created, for this wasteful practice is putting a drain on our forests that unless stopped inevitably means higher prices for all lumber and increased building costs.
Short lengths are those of less than eight feet. Thirty-eight billion feet of soft wood lumber were produced in the United States in 1925, and it is stated that this output could have been increased one-fifth without the felling of an additional tree or the investment of an additional dollar in mill equipment, if lumber in lengths of less than eight feet had been in wider demand.
One factor representing a substantial saving to the consumer is based upon the general practice of mills throughout the United States to quote short lengths 15 to 35 per cent below the price asked for standard lengths of equal grade. Washington builders say they have not been encouraged in the use of short lengths because the price made them is on the average only $2.00 per 1000 board feet below that for standard lengths.
On that basis, they claim, there can be no appreciable saving, if, indeed, any whatever, to the builder or the consumer, because of the additional cost of handling the short lengths. There is no economy, they say, in using, for example, short length joists when to do so necessitates an extra beam and additional pillars. Furthermore, they contend that the greater utilization of short lengths depends in a large degree upon educating carpenters up to the idea. The average carpenter of today who finds a place where a short length is needed or can be used goes immediately and saws it off a long length. He can't be bothered to look for a short length, or he forgets to hunt out the short lengths that may have been provided. Only an ever-vigilant foreman can see to it that the men under him do not waste lumber needlessly in this way.
These builders are in the main agreed, however, that a material saving of lumber can be effected when frame construction is fabricated as is steel construction. That is to say, when every piece of lumber that goes into the building has been cut at the mill to fit its individual place and numbered so the assembling at the place of construction can be done in the minimum length of time and with a minimum amount of labor.
MILLS WORK FROM THE PLANS
Under such a system there would be at least one and perhaps several fabricating mills in every town and city. The contractor who is to erect a structure with any considerable amount of lumber in it would take the architect's plans to such a mill and place an order to have the lumber required under the plans fabricated. Practically every set of plans prepared by an architect calls for a certain amount to standard lengths of lumber. These the mill would have in stock. It would be necessary only to determine the exact number required, assemble them, and label them so that their place in the proposed building could not be mistaken. Odd lengths, whether over or below the standard, would be cut to the exact size called for by the plans, and they too would be so marked and delivered and piled at the place of construction that the construction force could handle them expeditiously and economically. The result of the

Q. What is the amount of business done by cooperatives in the United States? R. K.
A. It has recently been stated that a rough estimate of the total business handled by cooperatives in the ten leading states from 1915 to 1925 is $2,000,000,000. The business transacted by the California cooperatives amounted to $1,700,000,000; the Minnesota cooperatives slightly more than $1,400,000,000, and the Iowa associations a trifle less than that amount.
Q. Will you kindly advise the total number drowned on the "Otranto" in the North Sea. Was the loss greater than the Tuscania? H. B.
A. Four hundred and thirty-one lives were lost in the wreck of the Steamship Otranto. Three hundred and sixty-six of these were American soldiers. The loss of life on the Tuscania was 213.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE
Discarded Antlers Are Devoured
BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.
Once each year the members of the deer family shed their antlers. Old woodsmen frequently deny this, declaring they have never found a discarded antler in the woods, despite the fact they have roamed moose or deer country all their lives.
There are two reasons why the antlers are not found more frequently and this picture explains one of them very well. Mice and porcupines, especially the latter, are fond of those horns, gnawing them whenever they get the chance. By the time the snow is melted, exposing the antlers that were shed during the winter, these rodents have left but little of them to find.
The second reason why so few antlers are picked up in the woods is that they are shed while the ani-

See-Sawing On Broadway
By Gilbert Swan

New York. — See-sawing on and down Broadway, I came upon Charles Chaplin, seemingly escaped from his lawyers and troubles and having a most merry time at the annual gambol of the Lambs Club. . . . And most riotously was he received by his fellow actors. . . . Will Rogers, who had left his morosely chair on a California hillside to attend the festivities, gave Charlie a typical Rogers greeting. . . . "We don't care if Chaplin has a wife every week," said he, "we want him to keep on taking pictures." . . . And Charlie seemed vastly pleased.
Saw Flo Ziegfeld, minus the mustache which these many years has aided him in appearing dignified. . . . And why he dispensed with it he will not tell. . . . Nayhap his good wife, Billie Burke, may have complained as have so many wives — that it scratched her face. . . .
Saw Edie Foy, looking somehow like a shrunken old man and yet retaining that whimsical curl of the mouth that never failed to give a smile. . . . It's just finished his memoirs. . . .
Saw two camels gazing gloomily out of a Broadway window where they were doing advertising service. . . . Peering from the outside in was a shivering little bootblack who seemed completely hypnotized by wonder. . . . Inside a half dozen high-pressure salesmen were demonstrating the value of a certain automobile device. . . . The gayly blanketed camels looked wonderingly on. . . . What a strange oasis for these wanderers of the desert. . . . Perhaps the bootblack sensed this as he stood with unbelieving eyes. . . .
Whizzing by a snow-laden amusement park I was minded to compose a simile: "Deserted as a roller-coaster in winter."
Here's one going the rounds that is attributed to Walter Winchell, a "column writer" of these parts: "Who's the gentleman I see you with last night?" asks the first. "That wasn't no gentleman, I'm a brumel!"
Johnny Held, who draws these high-proof flappers for the comic magazines, recently ran for constable or something in a nearby artist colony where he maintains a ranch. . . . Sending his campaign pleas about the county, he decided to keep tabs on the newspaper notices. So he subscribed to a clipping bureau.
A couple of days ago he received a bulging envelope.
Taking out a half dozen he hastily glanced at the headlines and read: "Held for Murder." . . . "Artist Held in Love Nest." . . . "Held for Trial." . . .

ORCHESTRA LEADER FIRM BELIEVER IN FUTURE OF RADIO

Believes Invention Can Be Made Greatest Cultural Medium for Music

BY ED FRIEDMAN
All of the enthusiasm for his art, which characterized Walter Damrosch during the time he has occupied one of the foremost positions in American music circles is being transferred to broadcasting.

Radio is not a hobby to the retired conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra. He speaks of his visions of the radio future with the zeal of youth hardly expected from a man who recently resigned active work to rest and live a quiet life.

"My experience with radio has been a revelation," said Damrosch, surprised to discover suddenly a new and unlimited field for music which he did not realize existed.

"After broadcasting this winter every Saturday night, either with the symphony orchestra or giving explanatory articles on Wagner, I have concluded that radio can be made the greatest cultural medium for music that has ever been devised."

HE'S A PIONEER
Damrosch always has been a pioneer. He was first with the Wagner music dramas, then with concerts for young people and children, and now he is captivated by the possibilities of broadcasting.

To eagerness with which he discusses radio and the faith he has in its future is largely due to the thousands of letters he has received in response to his Balchite hour concerts from WEAF and its chain of stations.

The greatest surprise he received was the warm reception given high class music by people living in rural and isolated districts. A majority of the fan letters are from listeners who never have an opportunity to attend concerts by leading musicians or musical organizations.

A FERTILE FIELD
"Given three years with radio, I could change the music taste of America," Damrosch said, not as a boast of his own ability, but as a realization that the American people are willing and even eager to have their music tastes cultivated.

"Letters from isolated districts prove that high class music is appreciated even where the natives never have had an opportunity to come under the influence of masters of music."

"The object of radio should be to give these people a chance to hear the best music. In addition to helping listeners develop music appreciation, music organizations and orchestras of many cities gain from broadcasts."

Damrosch believes in preparing radio programs exclusively for broadcasting. "To achieve the best artistic results," he explained, "performances should be planned for radio and played directly to the microphone with disregard for any present audience."

START REHEARSALS FOR
GLEE CLUBS' CANTATA
Daily rehearsals have been started for "The Rose Maiden," a cantata to be presented by the glee clubs and orchestra of Appleton high school at the spring music clinic at Lawrence Memorial chapel March 11. The first two nights of the clinic, March 9 and 10, the grade and junior high school children will give demonstrations.

A chorus of 100 voices will appear in the cantata and will be accompanied by two pianos and an organ. Pianists will be Miss Marie Fountain and Miss Virginia Baker. J. Raymond Walsh will be baritone soloist and Miss Dora Blinn, contralto. Tenor and soprano soloists have not been announced. The cantata will be directed by Carl S. McKee.

RAINBOW VETERANS TO BANQUET ON FEB. 23
The annual banquet of Appleton Chapter Rainbow Division Veterans, will be held at 6:30 Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, at Conway hotel. Letters announcing the date have been mailed to all members of the chapter by the committee in charge. Members are asked to answer the letters, indicating whether they will attend the banquet. Every member will be permitted to bring a gentleman friend and his lady, the committee has announced.

U. S. PROSECUTOR TO TALK TO P-T SOCIETY
Judge Levi H. Bancroft, United States district attorney for Eastern Wisconsin, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Roosevelt Parent-Teachers association Monday evening at the school. The judge will talk on citizenship as a part of the program outlined by the club for the year. J. L. Johns is chairman of the citizenship committee.

Those outside of the association as well as members will be welcomed, A. G. Oosterhouse, principal of the school, said. Special invitations have been sent to other high school teachers in the city.

Locarno Treaty Is Step Toward Outlawing War

BY DR. JOHN FAIVLE

Have France and Germany outlawed war? Yes—between themselves. In the Locarno treaties they say—"We undertake to settle by peaceful means, and in the manner laid down herein, all questions of every kind which may arise between us, and which it may not be possible to settle by the normal methods of diplomacy. Any questions with regard to which the parties are in conflict as to their respective rights, shall be submitted to judicial decision, and the parties undertake to comply with such decision."

France and Germany, the two oldest and bitterest enemies of Europe, the two nations who have lived in perpetual and intolerable fear of each other, who, again and again have saturated their souls with each others blood, now agree that henceforth they will in no case go to war with each other! France, now the leading militarist nation of Europe, and Germany the symbol of past dominant militarism, have pledged that they will renounce militarism, repudiate the war sanction between themselves. In other words they decide to outlaw war!

How much does this really mean? The guarantee to settle certain violations of these treaties by war, is still in Locarno. There is no direct or decisive action against the war sanction as an institution. Locarno leaves war as a necessity still, to establish peace. It has to direct protest against the use of military alliances in case of a crisis among themselves, or where it comes to all nations. It gives a chance for the Locarno treaty to be a new type of diplomats to say, let a war crisis arise and Locarno will be "scraps of paper." It is not born to quench the war makers in all nations. That France was greedy, first for her own security and Germany was longing first for a place in the sun, and then for a world with some reason, be claimed. It is quite possible to say, as a war obsessed daily in our nation has said—"Locarno removes the menace of a German war for the recovery of lost provinces, but not the danger of a general European war by an eastern European quarrel."

Locarno does not mean that the other European nations, or all other nations in or out of the League of Nations, are endorsing or consenting to its treaties or to its sentiments. It does not mean that the war makers in France or Germany or in all other nations are all dead.

But the fact remains that France and Germany have outlawed war between themselves. This means that nothing before or since the World war has been more significant or has had greater possibilities concerning war itself, or for the final triumph of the outlawry of war as a world plan and principle. Locarno is the entering wedge of a war against war. It strikes square and hard against the traditional claims of the necessity and inevitability of the secret diplomacy, the intrigues, and falsehoods that have so much characterized the dealings of these and other nations with each other.

Locarno goes deeper than partial disarmament, local security or a limited application of arbitration. It is a blow to militarism. Men like Stresemann and Briand and Chamberlain have said in each others presence, and to the world, "we not only consent to Locarno, but we steadfastly believe it is the better way." They have dared to say that they have concluded that good will rather than arms, arbitration instead of force between nations will win.

Granted that Locarno has not done all that must be done against war itself, as an entrenched, legalized fostered and still fortified institution, France and Germany almost of necessity have been absorbed in their own desperate troubles. It was too much to ask that they should or could yet get the full solution of the world's war problem. But they have made a real advance toward its right solution. They have dared to send out an epoch making decision about wars between nations. They have made a solemn promise with each other, and they have sent it out to the world that henceforth they will outlaw war between themselves.

"She is shy, timid, and a bit discouraged, but has the makings of a nice girl," Mr. Brayton continued. She is a Protestant by religion.

Homes for a Catholic boy and girl, aged five and eight years respectively, also are needed. Mr. Brayton said. The mother died last year. They are unusually nice children," the supervisor stated. People interested in helping these children have been asked to write the District Supervisor of the Children's Home society, box 297, Oshkosh, Wis.

HOMES ARE SOUGHT FOR 3 ORPHAN CHILDREN

Homes for three half orphan children are being sought by the Children's Home society. Fred C. Brayton, district superintendent of the society, has announced. One 13 year old girl is fatherless. Her mother remarried when the child was young and was unable to keep her children with her. This girl has not fitted in anywhere since that time and has led a lonely life, the superintendent said.

"She is shy, timid, and a bit discouraged, but has the makings of a nice girl," Mr. Brayton continued. She is a Protestant by religion.

Homes for a Catholic boy and girl, aged five and eight years respectively, also are needed. Mr. Brayton said. The mother died last year. They are unusually nice children," the supervisor stated. People interested in helping these children have been asked to write the District Supervisor of the Children's Home society, box 297, Oshkosh, Wis.

JANUARY SHIPMENTS GREATER THIS YEAR

Business Is Slightly Improved
Throughout Country, Report Indicates

A total of 141 more shipments were handled at the Appleton office of the American Express company in January, 1927, than in January, 1926. During the past month 7,355 incoming and outgoing shipments were handled while last year, 7,214 shipments were checked. This is not a large increase but it indicates that business is a little better, according to W. N. Kimball, local agent.

Last December 10,475 shipments were handled, exceeding by 1,093 the number of shipments handled in December, 1926. The holiday month last year was unusually heavy indicating that purchasing was much greater during the month than in the same month the previous year, according to Mr. Kimball.

The number of shipments does not give a true estimate of the number of pieces of incoming or outgoing matter actually handled, according to Mr. Kimball. Some shipments consist of only one piece while others sometimes contain as many as 20 pieces.

Is Making Up For The Many Good
Meals She Missed In The Past

Appleton lady tells how Drego ended stomach distress, built up her nervous system and brought back her strength.

Women the world over seem to have been especially selected to bear the burden of pain and sickness of this world. They seem to have more patience and a greater capacity for suffering. Thousands of women right now, today, are patiently bearing their burden of suffering, without complaint and without a whisper. But they are wrong. No idea could be more mistaken. Every day some woman tells of her relief through Drego, the great herbal tonic being introduced by the Drego Expert at Schilz Bros. Drug Store.

Read what Mrs. Jennie Keddel, who lives on R. F. D. No. 6, this city says:

Twelve years ago I had a nervous breakdown and since that time my system has been all shot to pieces. I couldn't stand to hear a sudden noise my nerves were so bad and my hands shook so I couldn't hold a spoon steady. I felt very weak especially in my knees which seemed hardly able to hold me up. Then, about four years ago, my stomach went back on me and since that time I suffered so with sourness, indigestion and gastritis I'd scarcely eat enough to keep a canary bird alive.

"One day I decided to try Drego and the results have surely been wonderful. My stomach is now in such good condition I can eat anything without distress and am surely making up for the many good meals I missed in the past. My bowels are as regular as the clock, my nerves have been steadied. I sleep fine at nights and seemed to have regained all my old-time strength and vigor. I'm also putting on some much needed weight and am improving so rapidly that I'm afraid my friends won't know me if Drego keeps on helping me like it has already."

Mr. H. W. C. Marr Baker, the well-known Expert from the Drego Laboratories now at Schilz Bros. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Drego for best results. Go to see him.

TO STOP NAUSEA
IN THE MORNING
Or Grogginess in the Stomach
At any Time

Try a little diaspensin. You may be so sick in the morning that the odor of foods adds to your misery. And yet one or two diaspensins instantly settle your stomach, the nausea disappears and you actually become hungry.

Diaspensin is composed of powerful digesters. They work on everything you eat, digesting starchy foods, milk, cream, eggs, meat, and also absorb acids and gas. Heartburn, biliousness and dizziness disappear almost instantly.

Nausea may come from many causes but diaspensin works quickly in any case. Expectant mothers get real benefit from diaspensin, not alone in freedom from nausea but more nutrition from better digestion.

Get a 60 cent package of Pape's Diaspensin at any drug store. You'll never tolerate nausea again.

METAL CLOTH IS CROWDING DIAPHANOUS MATERIAL FOR HONORS IN ALL CHIC PARISIAN SALONS OF UP-TO-DATE PATRONS

BY HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK—The vague of the moment in Paris is the evening gown of metal cloth. It is the deal mid-season choice since it suggests neither winter nor spring and somehow conveys the idea of the height of the season.

Some seasons ago designers had to woo women away from brocades and gorgeous fabrics and teach them to like simpler fabrics and less stentorian effects, now they have to win women back to them.

PARIS RECEIVES GRACIOUSLY. Paris received the glittering gown more graciously than the Americans. With good reason. Continental women represent an older civilization and a more sophisticated type. They can wear and prefer to wear more sophisticated type of gown than the American women, who are much more youthful in type and tastes, and consequently find chiffons and lighter fabrics easier to wear.

However, what Paris decries, eventually carries, and the metal cloth gown is crowding diaphanous material for honors. Certainly it is highly appropriate that gowns for evening should have glamour as well as charm, and Paris means they shall.

BROCADES OF SILVER AND GOLD

I am showing photographs today of three of these new type of evening gowns with quite a new and different feeling about them, showing these brocades of silver and gold and heavy metal cloth rule the world of fashion today. They admit of no trimmings or of very careful trimmings, since they are so highly decorative in themselves.

Typical of the triumph of line is the very simple model with the slightly draped front. The material is gold and turquoise blue and cloth which is a distinct weave and a very yellow luster. The neckline is a V both front and back, that of the back being much lower with a band across the shoulders for the very obvious reason of keeping the neckline as it should be. A straight band of cloth is drawn about the hips and caught at each side of the front with rhinestone buckles.

MUST BE DISCREET MIXING

The combination of beads and metal cloth must be a discreet one, but it is admirably handled in the cloth of gold gown with scalloped tiers of gold beads forming six rows of fringe and a narrow sash with fringed ends.

Less rich and heavy in appearance is either of these, and consequently more appropriate for the small woman is the combination of brown chiffon and gold brocade. This frock has a paneled back and a long sash which is drawn about the hips and caught at each side of the front with rhinestone buckles. The gold softens the lines and give the fashionable uneven length so becoming in evening attire.

VELVET WITH GOLD FROCK

With the gold frock, the colorful element of velvet, lined with cloth of gold is an excellent choice. Often a coat of colored tulle or chiffon softens the neckline of such a frock so that it is more flattering to the woman who is not of a decided coloring and finds elaborate materials hard to live up to. The velvet gown with the metal frock should be limited to a pearl necklace or possibly a few jeweled bracelets about the wrist. In footwear most women prefer the sandal of gold or silver or of brocade, but many wear plain satin slippers of some color that is emphasized in the brocade.

SPORT FROCKS FOR THE SEASON WILL BE TRICKY

PALM BEACH—The latest in sport frocks for the season of 1927 depend upon an arrangement of geometric designs for decoration. One particular model has a bige angora blouse and a dark blue crepe skirt. Applied to the blouse are narrow strips of the crepe.

The combination of beige and blue is good.

Another frock is of dull wine-violet crepe cut with an ingenuity that distinguishes all of the new sport frocks. The interest of the frock is concentrated on the skirt which is stitched to fit over the hips and then falls in panel-like platts in the front and in the back. There is an increasing favor for this type of crepe sport frock.

Cutting and fitting the simplest of sport frocks has become a test of cleverness for many of the Paris designers.

Section is fitted into section with the new sense of line that has developed during the past two seasons. A white crepe tennis frock has fullness worked into a brief skirt, fitted over the hips by means of the panel on the blouse.

THE stuck the Times got was long and Clowdy said, "There's nothing wrong in having just a bit of fun. The alligator's tame. Go on and poke him in the side." But when this very thing was tried, the alligator looked, I guess, to see who was to blame.

Said Scouty, "We had best look out. I've heard it said they swish about and try to hit you with their tail. Perhaps he's getting mad. I think I'll stay away because, I see he has quite monstrous jaws. If he should catch us in them we would not be very glad."

"Course Clowdy thought that he was brave and so he let Wee Scouty race. Said he, "Don't be a fraidy cat. No harm can really come. What say we gather up a bunch of leaves and then I've got a lurch I'll place the alligator if we all will feed him some."

They all did just as Clowdy planned and found some palm leaves near

Love Letters Of The Great

AS COMPILED BY DIANA RICE

PRINCE ALBERT 1810-1861

It was of her future husband that Queen Victoria wrote: Albert's beauty is most striking, and he is most amiable and unaffected—in short fascinating." In his eloquent if at times ironical lines on the life of Queen Victoria, Lytton Strachey seems to stress, in parts, the discipline which the Prince Consort at times applied to his haughty wife. As, for instance, when Victoria knocking at the door of Albert's room replied to his query of "Is there, 'It is the Queen," was made to knock again and again until she finally said, "It is your wife." But these incidents rarely happened, and the devotion of the "beautiful Albert" to his clever Queen, too well-known to need comment.

The following letter was written by him in the harbor of Dover in 1844:

Prince Albert to Queen Victoria My Queen.—We go on our journey thus far rapidly and well, but the tide has been so unmanly as to be an hour later than the calculated time, so that I cannot sail before three. Nevertheless Smitheth promises to deposit me at Ostend by half-past seven. I have been here about an hour, and regret the lost time I might have spent with you. Poor child! you will, while I write, be getting ready for lunch, and will find a place vacant where I sat yesterday. In your heart, however, I hope my place will not be vacant. I, at least, have you on board with me in spirit.

I reiterate my entreaty, "be up," and do not give way to low spirits, but try to occupy yourself as much as possible. You are even now half a day nearer to seeing me again; by the time you get this letter it will be a whole day; thirteen more, and I am again within your arms.

The railroad is wonderful, especially that part of it between the Folkstone. I have gone the best part of the fortification; with some of the commanding officers and am now writing in a handsome cabin of the "Princess Alice." They are on the point of raising the anchor, which makes a hideous clatter.

Our caravan is complete. The sun shines brightly and the sea is calm. To-morrow "your will" bring you further news of me.

Yours most devoted, Albert.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

Perhaps Martha Lane would have been flattered at the tremendous public interest which her death had aroused. She had been born in obscurity, grown up in obscure poverty, married, without ceremony, a man as obscure as herself, reared her family in obscurity until one of her brood had developed into a wild little bird-of-paradise, whose brilliance and beauty could not be concealed.

Probably no funeral in the history of the city had been attended by so many uninvited guests as gathered in the street and on the sidewalk before the shabby, shambling little house in Myrtle Street on Wednesday morning. Police reserves were sent out long before the hour of the funeral, to hold the mob in check. Although it was bitterly cold that cheerless first day of December, hundreds of morbidly curious men and women, boys and girls, gathered soon after daybreak, filling the whole block, waiting patiently for hours for a glimpse of Cherry, who was to be brought to the funeral under a heavy police guard, and of the suddenly famous Lane family.

Aunt Mattie Lane had spent the night at the Myrtle Street house, sharing the vigil of the family and making herself unceasingly useful by brewing hot coffee, tartly refusing interviews to reporters, and by talking briskly and cheerfully on subjects not even remotely connected with death and murder. Faith had never loved her audacious, withered little old spinster aunt so much in her life as she did before Wednesday morning.

"Joy had been told on Tuesday of her mother's death, but her Aunt Mattie had wisely refused to allow her to come home until Wednesday. Grandpa and Grandma Lane, feeble and subdued, but almost bright-eyed with interest and somehow elated over their now importance as relatives of both a newly deceased person and an accused murderess, arrived at nine o'clock, each holding tightly to Bob's hands as they stepped out of Bob Hathaway's car.

"I look a sight, in this old dress and hat," Grandma Lane quavered to Bob, after they had passed the battery of cameras.

He smiled at her, understanding her, not blaming her for an instant that she had wanted to "look nice" in the only pictures of her that had ever been made for publication.

The sight of Faith, in her plain black satin dress, her bloodless lips entirely free of rouge, her cheeks far deeper circles of fatigue and grief under her great brown eyes, touched his heart more profoundly than she had ever done, when she had looked her handsomest, brightest self. He had never felt more utterly sure of his abiding love for her.

"Please, Bob, tell the preacher not to make a funeral oration," Faith pleaded, almost hysterically. "I couldn't stand that. He didn't know her at all—just tell him to read the service! Oh, Bob, I'm afraid for Cherry! Could anything be more quickly than her coming home to—"

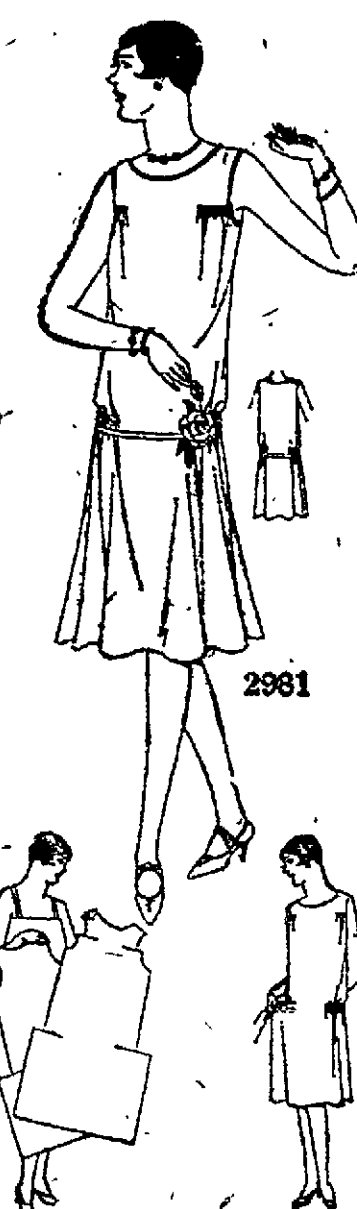

"To this?" We must get it over with quickly, Bob, for Dad's sake—and Cherry's."

The kitchen door was flung open, and Joy's shrill voice, rising grotesquely in the funeral calm of the bereaved house, told them: "Cherry's coming! I seen her, Faith—through the window! There are lots of policemen and a big fat woman with a policeman's badge."

"Don't talk so loud, honey," Faith said gently. Then, with head held high but her heart bursting with pain and pity, she went to meet her sister.

Pack Child's Lunch Box With Care

No matter what the gift may be, if it is prettily wrapped it will appeal to us far greater than an exquisite gift poorly wrapped. The same feeling applies to the school kiddies' lunches. If their lunch is merely sandwiches and a cookie and is nicely wrapped in wax paper and neatly arranged it will give the children appetites, which they need when they are growing.

Necessary things which every mother should have in the house when she has the daily task of preparing the lunches to the children should be: waxed paper, paper napkins, paper cups or a covered glass, fork and spoon and a thermos bottle.

LUNCH BOX NECESSITIES

If the sandwiches and sweets are wrapped in waxed paper they will not only keep fresher but will look inviting. Paper napkins will have the children's blouse or little frock. A child should have his knife, fork and spoon for all times so he will not get out of the habit of using them at any time. The thermos bottle will hold the milk. The very warm, luke warm, or icy cold, depending upon the little folks' liking.

Sandwiches as a rule make the foundation of the school lunches. These consist of chopped beef, lettuce, tomato, butter, chopped meats; nuts, raisins, dates or figs. Any of the above mentioned foods combined with mayonnaise dressing or melted butter and spread between slices of buttered bread make a most appetizing sandwich which all children enjoy.

ANY FRUIT

Fruits make an important place in the diet. A small glass of canned or dried fruit to be eaten with bread and butter or an apple, orange or banana.

Sweets in the form of cup cakes or cookies of some kind to be eaten with the fruit make a good dessert. Add a few pieces of candy or a small package of raisins.

Arrange the food in a box or small basket so that the sandwiches and the sweets will not be soiled and that the entire dinner is not in one piece.

Recent attacks of dyspepsia suffered by the pigeons which inhabit Trafalgar Square, London, are blamed on the generosity of American tourists.

Are You Planning a Small Home?

We suggest this design for those planning a small home. There is economy in the story and a half home. This one has a most convenient room arrangement. The large living room is especially inviting—on both floors all rooms are commodious and well-lighted.

Now that we have learned to apply inexpensive insulation to upper walls and ceiling, the rooms above are easily heated, and are cool in summer.

This is a good plan for the man who wants to build a five-room home; its cost is moderate.

Come in and see us about this home, or some of the many others which we have to show you, and for which we can furnish blue prints.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves much. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "Big bottles of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., St. Wayne, Ind.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads — Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calomite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once. adv.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

A missionary project will be adopted by the Congregational Young Women's society to raise money for the missionary fund, it was decided at a meeting of the group Wednesday evening at the church parsonage, 320 E. Lawrence-st. A definite project will be chosen at the next meeting.

Mrs. Marie Ventur sang a group of German songs after the business meeting. The devotions were led by Mrs. H. E. Peabody who based her discussion on the sixteenth Psalm from the Moffitt edition of the Bible. She concluded with a descriptive story of how "we can reach out and do our share."

About 30 members attended the supper and meeting.

The Best of 250 Shampoos

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Here is an example of how I get the best beauty aids created. A famous laboratory sent me some shampoo. They said, "we have spent 60 years in the study of shampoos. We made up and tested over 250 formulas before we perfected this. Here is the final result. It not only leaves hair soft and clean, but it gives a sunny glow."

Well, I found they were right. My hair was like a halo after using that shampoo. I knew at once that millions of women would welcome a wash like that.

So I asked those famous chemists to make it for all of us. I called it Edna Wallace Hopper's Fruity Shampoo. All toilet counters now supply it at 60c per bottle under my guarantee. Or the coupon will bring you a trial bottle, also my Beauty Book. Try it for your own sake. You will be amazed and delighted.

ABANDON PARK SCHOOL
ICE RINK FOR YEAR

Kaukauna—The Park school rink will be abandoned for this year, T. Reardon, north side street commissioner, said Wednesday. The recent thaw caused the ice to honeycomb and it will be impossible, Mr. Reardon said, to have good skating there again this year. It was his opinion that the weather would not permit reconstruction of any rink. The two rinks on the south side are in better condition, although they are rough.

NEW LONDON LOSES ROUGH CAGE GAME

New York Nationals Complain of Alleged Poor Sportsman- ship of Fans

The New London Booster Basketball team was defeated, 33 to 20, by the New York Nationals in a rough game at the Knight of Columbus hall at New London Wednesday night.

The game was punctuated by squabbles between the referee, players and the crowd. Many fouls were called on both teams.

The Nationals started the scoring soon after the beginning of the game. Swanke made the first basket for the Boosters and tied the score. Wahl put the Boosters in the lead by scoring the second for the home team. The first quarter ended 8 to 7 for the Nationals. Meehan and Mullen played good basketball for the Nationals and also starred for New London. The score at the end of the half was 16 to 10 in favor of the Nationals.

Shortly after the beginning of the second half, McElwain of the Nationals stopped the game and made a short address in which he scored the alleged poor sportsmanship of New London townspersons watching the game.

Meehan and Mullen succeeded in catching many long shots during the second half.

PLATOON COMMANDER SETS FIRING PACE

Lieut. Hubert J. Piette, in charge of the firing of the second platoon of the Co. D, 127th Infantry Wisconsin National guard, led the platoon at Army G range Wednesday evening with a score of 241 of a possible 300.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous colonic does without any of the bad after effects. Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaints, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All drug-gists.

PALMER RESIGNS FROM U. S. SERVICE

Engineer Leaves Navigation Office to Join Kimberly- Clark Co.

Howard Palmer, Appleton, field engineer for the federal government on the Fox river canal for the last five years resigned Thursday and will become associated with the Kimberly-Clark Paper company. Mr. Palmer had charge of construction of a dam across the Fox river at Rapid Crouche, completed last summer.

Work on the dam was started two years ago. The dam is one of the largest and most modern structures on the Fox river and was designed for flood prevention. During the first three years Mr. Palmer was engineer on the Fox river he had charge of maintenance work, according to E. F. Everett, United States engineer in charge of the Appleton office.

Nelson Wightman of Milwaukee, formerly the federal engineer in charge of the work at the new lock being constructed at Portage has been appointed to succeed Mr. Palmer. Mr. Wightman was to arrive in Appleton this week.

STAGE and SCREEN

"THE GREEN HAT" AT FISCHER'S TONIGHT
If you haven't read "The Green Hat" (and there maybe one or two such persons in town) you're going to see the play, that is, you're going to see it if you make it a point to be right up to snuff in your play going. "The Green Hat," Michael Arlen's drama-ization of his own popular novel of the same name will be the attraction tonight at Fischer's Appleton Theatre.

The play progresses through four episodes—from that Deauville morning soon after Lloyd Fenwick killed himself rather than face his loneliness, on ten years later to the night of Gerald March's death and the sweeping of Napier Harpenden an Iris into each other's arms, on through the day nine months later in the nursing home in which Iris has gone close to death in her futile desire for motherhood, and on to the time, still four months later, when on the eve of her going away with Napier, she sees her dream of happiness fade and drives her roaring yellow car at seventy miles an hour into the old trysting tree at the turn of the road.

So the wistful and wondering Iris takes her leave of love and of life, and puts an end to seeking and to giving. She tumbled the world like a flame, and burnt nothing but her own heart. A great character, this brave and piteous creature, much more alive in the theatre than she ever was in the novel. Four times you glimpse her—forever to remember her.

"The Green Hat" has to do with those vagrant creatures which traverse the world, having nowhere to lay their heads save in uneasiness, no paths to tread save to walk on thorns, no ties to hold them save those that elude the wrists they bind. These are the creatures who make the play, and those are the creatures who make the mystery and much of the enchantment of the world.

"The Green Hat" gives gorgeous opportunity for resplendent acting, and is one thrill after another and Combination lasts are the real solution of the problem. Shoes must be fitted long enough. Snug lacing of shoes will help prevent feet from pushing forward, relieving back pressure on the toes, but this constriction may interfere with superficial circulation if carried to extremes. "THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING" OPENS MIGHTFULLY

For those who cannot take their drama straight and for all the other unhappy folk on this earth, there is "The Whole Town's Talking" at Fischer's Appleton Theatre, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

It is recommended without breath of reservation, defashioned from a moderately successful stage play by John Emerson and Anita Loos, it has been alchemized into pure, fine-working platinum and has been set with a jewel to boot.

Little plot is written over the face of this effect nonsense, which, since the world is sick of plots, criticism and the word "Sex-appeal" is everything in its favor.

It takes the formless form of a twinkling mass of colored lights, flashing with the charm of Edward Everett Horton and Virginia Lee Corbin, involved through wealths of delightful, high comedy clowning.

The acting is all high lights. Mr. Horton has never been more wistful for Miss Corbin ever more delightful and inspired. The surrounding persons are gifted too with special praise to Gus Harlan, Trixie Friganza, Dolores Del Rio and Margaret Quinby.

ROYAL GORGE USED IN RAILROAD STORY STARRING MIX
The Royal Gorge, standard of all Colorado's incomparable scenery, was the location for "The Great K & A Train Robbery," Fox Film's version of Paul Lejester Ford's thrilling story in which Tom Mix stars as Tom Gordon, a detective who tracks down a gang of outlaws who have robbed trains and worried officials of the road to the edge of nervous collapse. It is showing at the New Bijou for three days starting today.

It is a real western story of hard living outlaws, a courageous, fast thinking detective who overcomes difficulties that drop out of the sky, apparently, and almost wreck his plans for the capture of the desperadoes.

The supporting cast includes Dorothy Dwan, in the role of Madge Cullen, Harry Gripp, playing de Luce Harry a tramp; William Walling as Eugene Cullen, president of the K & A Railway; Carl Miller, in the role of Burton Holt, division superintendent; Edward Bell, Sr., as Bill Tolfree, leader of the bandits, and Curtis McHenry as the Cullen butler.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN
Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night
Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

KIMBERLY CAGERS

BEAT TWO RIVERS.

Last Half Rally Plus Strong Defense Gives K-C Loop Win, 33-26

Kimberly scored 29 points while holding the Two Rivers squad to 26 in the final half of a four-day trip through Wisconsin on which the K-C men will leave for the Blue state on Saturday evening to whip the strong Two Rivers squad in a State League game, 33-26. The game was the first of a four-day trip through Wisconsin on which the K-C men will leave for the Blue state on Saturday evening to whip the strong Two Rivers squad in a State League game, 33-26. The game was the first of a four-day trip through Wisconsin on which the K-C men will leave for the Blue state on Saturday evening to whip the strong Two Rivers squad in a State League game, 33-26.

Kimberly started the new combination with Cooke at center and Williams at guard in the opening period but shifted in the second quarter. At the half Williams and Cooke again changed places and the new quint seemed to function better. In the opening periods Kimberly trailed by missing shot after shot from directly under the hoop but in the final half the K-C eyes returned and now any strategy was missed as the new combination played a better game than the old machine.

Scheurle and Koll, Appleton sharpshooters, lead the Cookmen with five and four baskets each for 18 of the 33 points. Gunderson, guard Two Rivers center, scored five ringers and a free try for his team and Red Weston, scored three baskets, including the only two that Kimberly allowed the Delmore men in the final period of play when the home team was held to five points. The K-C guards, held Becker, Two Rivers' best shot, to a single basket before he was relieved. McNutt of Milwaukee refereed a good game. The K-C five meets the Simmons Beds of Kenosha in a non-league game on Friday and Port Washington in a loop game on Saturday. The Bears lost a close game at Kimberly. The K-Cs must win the Port game to still have a chance for the loop title. In beating Two Rivers the Cookmen took the honor of being the only team to beat the Rivermen on the home floor this year.

CLINTONVILLE PLAYS OCONTO LEGION FIVE

The strong Oconto Legion cage squad will invade Clintonville Monday evening for a game with the Clintonville city team. Clintonville has been beaten only three times this season, falling before the Swendsen Fords of Milwaukee, Marion and Shawano. Monday the Four Wheel Drive crew swapped the Lena region, 45-32.

Teckemeyer Chosen To Help Coach Card Crew

Madison—Oscar Teckemeyer, former Badger athlete was today appointed assistant Varsity Crew Coach of "Dad" Vail, veteran University of Wisconsin crew mentor. Teckemeyer, who is at present engaged in business here, assumed his new duties Thursday. With the increasing interest manifested each year in crew, Vail has found it difficult to handle all of the Varsity and Frosh oarsmen single-handed. Wehn speaking of the appointment of his new assistant, "Dad" Vail said, "I am very pleased with Teckemeyer's decision to assist me in coaching the 1927 Badger crew. When asked to select one of the oarsmen, men who have served for me in the past years, I chose Teckemeyer because he was the logical selection from the standpoint of service, skill, personality and ability to teach."

Teckemeyer pulled an oar in the Badger shell for three years, winning up his career as "Captain of the year's eight at the Poughkeepsie Regatta. His first year he was placed in the No. 7 seat but the following spring was moved up to stroke. "Teck" was ranked with the three best strokes in collegiate rowing circles his Senior year, and was heralded by Coach Vail, as the greatest of them all. He also was awarded the major "W" for football while attending the University here, and won great distinction on the gridiron, as well as in "Dad" Vail's eight-oared shells. His rowing skill and strength materially aided the achievement of Director Little's athletic staff.

FIGHTS ZWICK FEB. 22

"SNAKE" AGUINALDO

"Snake" Aguinaldo, rated as one of the best "brown berries" in the ring meets Phil Zwick of Kaukauna Thursday evening, Feb. 22 at Armory G, in the first 1927 fight show of the Appleton Athletic club. The match was booked for Jan. 21 and then Zwick louts on nearby dates caused two postponements. Now officials of the club say the date is set for good. Announcement of the preliminary boxers will be made next week, promoters said.

Knockout Brown of Fort Sam Houston, knocked out Bobby Cox, Chicago (7).

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Jack Demare, New York, outpointed Tom Roper, Los Angeles (10).

APPLETON SKATERS PREPARE FOR MEET AT MADISON RINK

Five Local Boys to Compete in District Event; Hope to Win Title

Five Appleton bladesmen will take part in the district skating tournament for Wisconsin which will be held at Madison on Sunday, Feb. 20, in an effort to bring the district city championship to Appleton. The city whose team piles up the most points wins the championship and a large silver cup emblematic of the honors. That is the five skaters from any one city whose points earned in the various races total the highest win the championship for their city. As Milwaukee is barred from the races, the local boys feel that they have a good chance to cop.

Appleton entries will be Percy Roemer, 1927 city champion; Robert Sharp, 1924 city champ and 1926 class A champion; Clement Kitzinger, 1925 city champ and 1927 class A champion; Henry Rammer and Walter Bell. Rammer won a senior race this year and had another coped until a spill. He tied for senior honors and lost in the race-off with Roemer by a spill near the finish. Bell has been a consistent point winner in city meets.

Rammer and Bell, star skaters, will enter the short races, while Kitzinger, Sharp and Roemer, all distance stars, will enter the long races in an effort to total enough places and points to give Appleton the title. The distance races also will see a rivalry within a rivalry. Sharp beat Kitzinger for the class A title last year and this year "Kitty" reversed the tables. At Green Bay a few weeks ago Sharp beat Kitzinger for the Northeastern Wisconsin title in the last few feet in an extra-close race when the latter misjudged the length of the race and would have won in another lap. Both local races will be extra close so that the fight at Madison should be a "hot" one.

The Appleton five also will race as a team against the crack Madison State Journal team, consisting of F. Milverstedt, C. Lutz, C. Sundart, F. Parkinson and Keith Ackley, which has challenged any relay team on the state to a two-lap race. The meet was scheduled for last Sunday but was called off by the warm weather and poor ice.

Events in the senior division are the 220, 440, 880 mile and two-mile. Senior girls races are 220 and 440 for class B, under 16 years, and 440 and 880 for class A 16 and over. Loving cups will be awarded winners in all divisions. International racing rules will prevail. The races are open to any amateur skaters in the state, Milwaukee excluded, who are bona fide residents of the city or town which they represent. The course is eight laps to the mile. There will be no delay between the major events as boys and girls races will be staged in between the big contests.

CONQUEROR OF NURMI WINS 1ST U. S. START

Newark, N. J.—(AP)—Ervin Wide, Swedish conqueror of Paavo Nurmi, has begun his brief American track tour with victory as decisive as any registered by the Finn when he swept American tracks in 1925.

Wide, covering the boards in long easy strides as Nurmi did, raced away from a generously handicapped field of four runners in his 2500-yard inaugural race at the Newark Athletic club games Wednesday night. He lapped the field in six turns of the 13-day distance, running the mile in 4:23 without effort and the 2500 yards in 6:28 2-5. There were no records for comparison, as the distance is not recognized by the A. A. U. It was Wide's first appearance in competition on an indoor track.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD AT PRO CAGE BATTLE

Armory G should be occupied by the largest crowd that has witnessed a professional basketball game here in some years Thursday evening when the Basing Sports of Milwaukee are hosts to the unbeaten Swendsen Fords of Milwaukee, conquerors of the best teams of five states this winter. Advance ticket sales indicate this fact to be true. If the crowd is large enough so that the Sports management can come out a little ahead after paying the Swendsens' large guarantee, the Deloit Fabrics and other crack pros also may be brought here this winter.

The main bout of course is between Zwick, Kaukauna's pride and joy, and Aguinaldo, former stablemate of Panchito Villa and one of the three great Filipino boxers in the United States. The boys will box at 126 pounds.

Aguinaldo is under the management of Frank Churchill, who brought Sencio, Villa, and Sarmiento to this country. Churchill brought Aguinaldo here after he battled his way to the foremost ranks of the batmans and featherers in his own country.

Like the sterling battlers who preceded him here, Aguinaldo is a fighter who believes, a good offense is the best defense. His bouts have all been marked by his aggressive, no-stop fighting. He is a good, two handed puncher and possesses a physique well able to stand the strain of the rushing type of boxing.

Whitely Berghausen, who is making the matches for the local club, plans to use Aguinaldo and other Filipino boxers in future shows, providing Aguinaldo satisfies, which Berghausen is confident he will. Filipino boxers have never failed

ZWICK-AGUINALDO BATTLE IS CARDED FOR FEBRUARY 22

Athletic Club Sets Final Date for 1st Card; Valley Boys in Prelims

Tuesday evening, Feb. 22 was set as the date for first 1927 boxing show of the Appleton Athletic club, featuring Phil Zwick, Kaukauna battler, and Snake Aguinaldo, Filipino star, by members of the club this week. The fight was scheduled for late in January but had to be postponed because of Zwick having another fight a few days before in Ohio. Again it was scheduled for early in February but other complications arose to postpone it a second time. Now the club members believe that the final date is set as all the main principals seem satisfied with the new date.

The club will meet Friday evening at the Conway hotel to complete plans for the show and to arrange a good card of preliminaries. An effort will be made Friday evening to secure a number of local and Valley boys to fight the preliminaries, boys evenly matched as to ability and well-known to nearby fans.

In a few days the matchmaker will announce where the fighters will train. It is expected that Aguinaldo will train at the Elks' club at Appleton, which will give the fans a chance to see him work out.

San Antonio—Sammy Ratner, Minneapolis, and Jimmie McDermott, Terre Haute, Ind., drew (10).

to please in Milwaukee, where they have been featured in the Cream City A. C. shows at the Auditorium. Sencio, Villa, Sarmiento and Hill all displayed sensational fighting in Milwaukee, and were again welcomed back. The fight will be Aguinaldo's first appearance in Wisconsin. Milwaukee promoters, with an eye for new attractions, will be at the ringside to give the new Filipino sensation the once over. Fox river valley fans will have the first opportunity of watching a battler who bids fair to rival the great Sencio, Villa, Sarmiento and Hill.

Great interest is being shown in the coming fight throughout the Fox River valley. The advance sale has been very satisfactory, with indications that the show will be a sellout. A brisk sale of tickets has already been reported in Green Bay, Oshkosh, Appleton, Kaukauna and Fond du Lac. Berghausen promises to give the fans the best attractions that can be obtained. He is well acquainted with the boxing game, having helped men like Joe Sangar, Richie Mitchell, Billy Borfield, Russle Leroy, Billy Petrolle, Sarmiento, Villa, Sencio, Hill and others in their training, while these battlers worked in Milwaukee.

In a few days the matchmaker will announce where the fighters will train. It is expected that Aguinaldo will train at the Elks' club at Appleton, which will give the fans a chance to see him work out.

APPLETON QUINTS FINISH NEAR TOP IN WOMEN'S MEET

Hoppies Sausages in 2nd,
Jolly Fives Place 4th in State Contest

BULLETIN
Two Appleton women's bowling teams finished among the leaders in the annual Wisconsin State Women's Bowling Tournament which closed Wednesday evening at Green Bay. The Hoppies-Sausages finished in second place with a score of 2322, 12 pins below the leading Jordan Buick's of Milwaukee, while the Jolly Five of Appleton Press Co., finished fourth with 2231.

E. Ellis placed in the money class in the singles, while another local girl, L. Dunn, received a vanity case from a Green Bay merchant as a special prize for high single game last Saturday. She rolled a 233 in the Jolly Five's fourth place drive.

Green Bay, Wis.—(AP)—After breaking a national record in the doubles event and returning other high scores the eighth annual tournament of the Wisconsin Women's Bowling Association drew to a close here Wednesday night with more than 1,000 women from all sections of the state participating.

A score of 1212 believed to have smashed previous national records was scored by a pair from Milwaukee Wednesday morning when Mrs. W. Weissenberger rolled 635 and Mrs. Peggy Ehlike, her partner in the doubles event counted 577. Wednesday was devoted entirely to doubles and singles events.

With 534, the E. M. Jordan Buick's, of Milwaukee, have the supreme place of the regular event having gone in to that position Tuesday. Hoppies-Sausages of Appleton, came into second with their 2322 Tuesday and the Red's of Racine, followed with 2188.

The Vander Zanden Jewellers, Green Bay are leaders in the bookers having piled up a 1755 tilt Monday. Pabbling Milling Co., 1781 Green Bay, are second and the Holzer Nevve-Noels, also of Green Bay come in third having a score of 1718.

With their record count of 1212 the Weissenberger-Ehlike pair of Milwaukee have first place in the doubles event, with the Madernack-Konrad team of Racine, have the second rank in the doubles with 1064 and with a count of 1059 the Horle-Siggeko pair to Madison are counted third.

Wagner of Milwaukee, is still leader of the singles with 576 pins and Heller of Milwaukee, with a count of 563 takes second while third place belongs to Madernack of the Racine Doubles pair with 560.

STANDINGS W. L. Pct.
Roosevelt 1 0 1.000
Wilson 1 1 .500
McKinley 0 1 .000

Roosevelt high school, 1926 Appleton junior high school, and leader in the 1927 race, was scheduled to meet the cellar McKinley squad Thursday afternoon at Roosevelt gymnasium. The 1926 champs are easy favorites over the McKinley men, having trounced Wilson last week. Wilson swamped McKinley the week before. Because of their showing to date the Roosevelt boys are favorites for their second straight title.

FIRE FIRST SHOTS IN BABE'S BATTLE

Bambino Asks Raise Over
Last 3 Years or "I'll Quit Baseball"

New York—(AP)—Echoes of the first shots fired in Babe Ruth's long expected contract war with the New York Yankees sounded through the baseball world Thursday.

Hardly had Col. Jake Ruppert, president of the Yankees, announced that the salary conflict was on than the Bambino leveled his guns on New York all the way from Hollywood, where he is making a movie.

The Babe has returned the contract Ruppert offered him unopened he said, because the terms called for the same salary he has received for three years—$32,000. And unless better terms are offered him, why "I'll quit baseball" he announces.

Colonel Ruppert said the big home run hitter would not be allowed to report to the training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., until he signed a new contract. Right back across the country came Ruth's declaration that he would report at camp on March 5, whether or not the contract question had been settled by that time.

"I'm not saying what terms I want or what I would accept," Ruth said. "That's to be worked out with the club owner. But unless the terms are satisfactory I'll quit baseball if necessary. I wouldn't like to do that, of course."

Babe is thought to have demanded a contract covering several years with the figures in the vicinity of $100,000 per season.

CUE TOURNEY STILL TIED AS FOES REST

Chicago—(AP)—The three-cushion billiard stars in the national round-robin championship rested Thursday with Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, the title holder, and Angie Kieckhefer of Chicago tied for first place, with five wins each.

Closest to them came Art Turnblad, young Chicagoan with five victories and defeat. Gus Copulos of Detroit, former champion who defeated Willie Hoppe, two out of three matches here this winter, was pushed out of the third-place tie Wednesday night by Tiff Denton of Kansas City, who ran 27 points in the last 20 innings of his 50 to 31 victory over Copulos.

ONLY 2 MEASLES CASES REPORTED IN 4 DAYS

Only two cases of measles were reported to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer, during the last four days. No other cases of contagious disease have been reported for the last week and Mr. Sanders expressed the opinion that the epidemic here in December and the early part of January had passed. One case of scarlet fever and one of typhoid fever are to be released this week. These are the only cases of serious contagion in the city and after their release the city will be practically free of contagious disease of any type, according to Mr. Sanders.

The exchange took baseball men here completely by surprise. Although it had been known that Manager McGraw was considering offers to dispose of Kelly or Bill Terry, they have been rated almost on a par with first basemen, Terry having been held in reserve except when Kelly was called by emergency to play second base or outfield positions.

The chief advantage of the transaction to New York was seen as adding strength to McGraw's outfield.

KELLY TRADED TO REDS FOR ROUSH

Giant First Sacker Swapped

Trade

New York—(AP)—The playing cast of the National league was given another sensational and unexpected shakeup Wednesday when the New York Giants traded George Kelly, their 32-year-old first baseman, for Eddie Roush, outfield star of the Cincinnati Reds.

The deal was completed this afternoon at a conference between Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club, and Charles A. Stoneham, head of the Giants. It was a straight player transaction, with no cash involved, the New York club announced.

GERMAN ANTI-FILTH LAW IS CRITICIZED

Berlin—(AP)—Ridicule and derision continue to fall upon Germany's new censorship law aimed at trashy and indecent literature.

Writers, artists and actors are continuing their attacks against the measure, although their protests were unheeded when it was enacted by the Reichstag.

The liberal political parties are on the alert for possible confirmation of their suspicions that there may be an effort to use the new boards of censorship as a means of stifling free speech. The law will operate through the boards of censorship, of nine members each including a neutral president. Two members represent authors and artists, two the art dealers and publishers, two the organizations and school teachers and two the youth and welfare organizations.

If six members vote against a book or periodical its sale and circulation will become illegal. Newspapers and magazines of the type of political and literary reviews are exempted.

Speculation on the advantages of the trade to Cincinnati developed a variety of views here as to just how Kelly will be used by Manager Herrmann. The Reds were believed last year to have solved their first base problem with the acquisition of Wally Pipp, former Yankee, whose brilliant fielding and hitting figured conspicuously in keeping the Cincinnati team near the top. If the club retains Pipp at first base, baseball men considered it highly probable that Kelly would go to the outfield.

SURE VALLEY SCOUTS CAN DUPLICATE EXPOSITION

P. O. Leicher, Valley Scout executive and Rev. N. J. Langenfeld, Earl O'Brien, Henry Helms, John McAndrew and John Eckrick, scoutmasters of Menasha troops, returned Wednesday from Milwaukee where they attended an exposition given by the Milwaukee Scout Council Monday and Tuesday. The men studied the exposition with a view to a similar one in the valley council later in the year.

They reported that the exposition revealed nothing that valley scouts could not do. However, they were greatly impressed with the cooperation of Milwaukee merchants. Practically every large store in the city gave over part of its main window to a scout display.

MYSTERY OF THE POPULAR CIGAR

We admit, Mr. Smoker, it is a mystery. We confess that right in our own factory there are differences of opinion as to the main reason for the growing popularity of San Felice at 5c. Is it that mild blend, the delightful aroma, the smoothness, or the mellowness that makes San Felice such a big favorite? To meet the increasing demand we have had to enlarge our weekly production on San Felice by the millions. What feature in your opinion, Mr. Smoker, is responsible for winning so many new men to San Felice? Try one today, and see for yourself if San Felice isn't that mild, smooth, fragrant and mellow cigar you are looking for.

Goodyear Announces A New-Type Tread For The Balloon Tire

Here you see displayed for the first time Goodyear's latest contribution to the American motorist — an improved new-type tread for the balloon tire.

As is apparent, it is a development of that most famous of all treads, the Goodyear All-Weather, now re-designed in the light of new balloon tire knowledge.

The first advantage to you of this new Goodyear tread is greater traction and non-skid efficiency.

This is achieved not only by placing the diamond-shaped All-Weather blocks in the tread's center, but also by flattening the profile of the tire to insure broader road contact.

The second advantage to you is improved treadwear, accomplished by the flat design, and by placing two circumferential ribs in the tread at the points of greatest wear.

ASK 50 PER CENT RAISE IN CHEESE TARIFF AT PLYMOUTH MEET

PAST YEAR BIGGEST SINCE ORGANIZATION, DELEGATES ARE TOLD

Speaker Outlines Growth and Service of Wisconsin Cheese Federation

Plymouth — (CP) — A request that President Coolidge authorize an increase on the tariff on cheese up to 50 per cent of its present level was adopted unanimously Wednesday at the opening session of the thirtieth annual convention of the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation.

Gus Brickbauer, president of the federation, told the 1,000 dairymen at the session that during 1926, the biggest year in the history of the organization, 28,400,000 pounds of cheese were received from its members.

Delegates are present from 40 Wisconsin counties, and five in Minnesota. A committee on resolution was appointed. It consists of E. E. Edington, Wausau; W. S. Moser, Lake Mills; H. C. Krause, Fredonia; John Johnson and Henry Johnson, Marshfield.

OUTLINES GROWTH
Growth of the Wisconsin Cheese federation, with particular reference to the spread of cooperative marketing, was outlined Wednesday by H. O. Sommergaard, president of the organization's thirtieth annual meeting. The convention will close Thursday night, with sessions and addresses scheduled for the intervening hours.

"Since the Federation began receiving cheese in April 1917," he said, "it has handled a total of 215,117,755 pounds of cheese. The total value of the Federation's cheese business in 1926 was $7,250,000. In addition to this the Federation handled over $300,000 of cheese for other dairymen. The business started in 1921 about $50,000 had been paid back to farmers in patronage dividends of cream alone."

"The Federation also conducts a regularly organized supply department. This department did a business of about $21,000 in 1926 and related to farmers close to $5,000. Since this department was organized in 1918 it has paid in patronage dividends to farmers close to $15,000. Besides this it has saved them many thousands of dollars because of the keen competition it has afforded in the cheese factory supply field. The average Federation farmer owns about 12 cows. The average Federation factory produces about 150,000 pounds of cheese annually. This means about 25 farmers per factory. Independent of the farmers in the Twin City Milk Producers' association, there are about 7,000 in the Federation. These farmers own very close to 100,000 cows."

GROWTH IN VOLUME
"Most significant than the growth in volume from six million pounds the first year to thirty three million pounds the thirtieth is the expansion of the territory served by the Federation. Whereas the initial organization, the Sheboygan County Cheese Producers' association, served the farmers of one county only, the present Federation with its 13 warehouse points is serving farmers in 39 counties in two states."

"Investment of over three hundred thousand dollars in the warehouses they own. These warehouses range in value from two thousand dollars for the smallest of the group, to fifty thousand for the largest of the group. One at Marshfield, and another at Appleton, are being used for the central office and warehouse at Plymouth. When it is realized that with three exceptions all of these warehouses were built since 1922 with a majority of farmers underwriting a mad scramble to hold their own, let alone trying to improve, the accomplishment is all the more remarkable."

MARKETS IN 40 STATES
"Federation cheese is now marketed in 40 states and in Mexico. Large quantities are shipped monthly to southern markets always heavy buyers of Wisconsin cheese. The cheese is received from the factories at the various warehouses. It is graded, paraffined and held in coolers subject to the central office at Plymouth. Shipments are made direct from the warehouses to the trade. All remittances come to the central office from which payments are also made to the factories."

PAID TWICE MONTHLY
"The factories are paid twice a month. The first check goes out on the twenty-fifth of the month following month of shipment. The second payment is made on the tenth of the month following."

"Due to the fact that all of its warehouses are equipped with refrigeration, all artificial with the exception of two plants, the Federation is in a position to store large quantities of cheese to its own and customers' account. In 1926 over 3,000,000 pounds were stored. On all cheese stored for customers there is an earning of one-half cent per pound for the season to Jan. 1."

"When the original group of Sheboygan-area farmers started to develop the Federation they have made out a sea of endeavor as uncharted as that upon which Columbus set sail with his three little crafts in 1492 to find a short cut to Asia."

"One of the big services that the Federation has rendered to the state has been the selling of the cooperative marketing idea. Its 13 warehouse points are centers for radiating the cooperative marketing idea. It can safely be said that there never was a time in the history of the state when so many farmers were considering the advantage of cooperative effort as right now. Latterly in cooperation with the department of farmers' institutions and the department of agricultural economics new territories are being served and increasing numbers of farmers are being made to appreciate their responsibility in the matter of marketing. It can safely be said that the Federation has done more to sell the cooperative marketing idea to the farmers of the state than all other farm organizations."

"Much of its success has been due to its readiness to work with existing organizations as the Equity, the Grange, and the Farm Bureau. Truly the ed-

WASTE SKIM MILK MARKET

DR. L. A. ROGERS IN THE LABORATORY TO THE U. S. BUREAU OF DAIRYING.

Grove City, Pa.—A new process for manufacturing sour-skim milk is being kept for a long time without spoiling has been developed by Dr. L. A. Rogers of the U. S. Bureau of Dairying.

"Much of the skim milk now being wasted can be turned into a marketable product," said Dr. Rogers. "It is hoped that the product will be established for the market for use in baking."

"It is only necessary to take more care to obtain a smoother product for baking purposes. Put up in small containers and sold by grocery stores it would furnish the housewife a constantly available supply of sour-skim milk in convenient form for various uses."

The finished product is a pasty, semi-fluid material which when diluted with water becomes the same as ordinary sour milk except that it has a higher acidity, which gives it its keeping quality.

Dr. Rogers has developed this high acidity by putting two tiny organisms to work as a team. Together they create more than double the acidity that either could develop working alone.

An acidity of 2 per cent removes the difficulties formerly experienced in concentrating skim milk in the vacuum pan, and 6 per cent acidity of the concentrated product keeps it from deteriorating. The product has been kept in good condition for more than 2 years.

When used as poultry or hog feed the semi-fluid product is mixed with water or other wet feeds. Good results have been obtained by feeding it to baby chicks in a dilution of one to eight, to laying hens either in paste form or in a mixture of one-pound of this to one pound of wet or dry mash.

Jacobsen Brothers Make Record As Seed Growers
BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm-Writer
Green Bay—The noted growers of pedigree grain in Brown-co, Jacobsen brothers, route 1, stand in the front rank. Early in their career as tillers of the soil, they discovered that the effort required to produce a bushel of poor grain often will produce two bushels of good grain. As a result of his experience, one of the brothers said: "It is as easy to raise pedigree grain as it is to raise poor grain, and a great deal more profitable and satisfactory."

It is no small achievement for a grain grower of Brown-co or any other county to sell seed corn in Canada, South America, Russia, Austria-Hungary and even Wisconsin to raise 125.2 bushels of corn to the acre, and to win a prize in a state contest as a result to raise not less than 100 bushels of corn to the acre in seven succeeding state contests; to have entered a 50-acre sample of corn at the state fair last fall and a 10-acre sample and to have won three premiums and three sweepstakes on the exhibits and to have a home collection of from 200 to 300 first, second and third premiums and several silver trophies won in competition in county and state. Yet Jacobsen brothers, during the 12 years that the Green Bay Grain Growers' association has been in existence, have done these things and have received official recognition of their success.

WON MANY PRIZES
At the Brown-co fair last fall, all but two of their exhibits in the grain display drew first premiums. At the recent county grain show, they drew five first and two thirds from eleven entries. At the state fair on a 50-acre sample of corn and a 10-acre sample, they drew three firsts and three sweepstakes, and recently on seven entries made in the state grain show at Madison, they got first award on a 50-acre sample of corn and second on a 10-acre sample, second on a barley sheaf, sixth place on three-threshed oats, second place on a bundle of alfalfa.

Although they raise Wisconsin pedigree barley, No. 3, Forward oats, old clover and alfalfa, Jacobsen brothers are specializing on Wisconsin Cold Resistant No. 12, corn. For a few years up to seven years ago, they were experimenting with Golden-Glow corn and then made the change to the present variety.

For their corn field, Jacobsen brothers choose alfalfa seed. They plow the field in the fall and manure it thoroughly in the winter. In the spring they work the field several times before planting. They drill silo corn and check row corn for seed. They say it is very necessary to have a good seed bed for corn. They plant their corn as early as the weather will permit and say that an early start for a corn crop in spring helps to make a big yield. With an attachment on their corn planter, they drop commercial fertilizer 0-16-0 near the hills. While the crop is growing, they work the ground often with a cultivator and go through the field with hoes. The corn-fed feed goes into the silo in the usual way, but the ripe ears of seed corn are broken off and other ears go into sheaf. All seed corn is sun-dried and remains on the racks all winter. The brothers sell their crop of seed corn through the Wisconsin Experiment association.

200 BUSHELS OF SEED
They raised 18 acres of corn last season including 200 bushels of seed corn. Two years ago they had 400 bushels of seed corn. Last year was not an average year for a corn grower. Jacobsen brothers are strong for red clover, but much more so for alfalfa. They have used some phosphate fertilizer but have not reached the national service the federation has rendered to the agriculture of the state cannot be measured by the dollar rule."

"With little money existing, a cooperative can well be organized. Its successful operation requires a definite plan of organization. Incorporated non-profit organizations have proven the best."

"Many cooperatives are handicapped by uncooperative patrons who ship with a competing buyer whenever a slight advantage is offered. There must be a competent manager who understands livestock and who has made himself familiar with operating methods at the central markets."

KESHENA PROJECT WOULD DO LITTLE TO REDUCE FLOODS

Might Reclaim Land at River Edges—Schneider Explains Reforestation Policy

BY ROBERT AMUNDSON
Outagamie-co Agricultural Agent
Power companies are now seeking permission to develop a series of reservoirs for power purposes above Keshena. The amount of flood relief that may be expected from such works is illustrated in Mr. Clayton's report of December, 1926, in which he estimates that at New London, on floods like those of April and June, 1916, storage reservoirs above Keshena, would reduce such floods from 9.7 feet to 9.0. Mr. Clayton's report says:

"At New London the floods of 1916 reached a stage of 9.7 feet, a discharge of 8,860 second feet on April 4, and again on June 12. At Keshena the maximum discharge for the 1916 floods occurred on June 8, and amounted to 2,920 second feet."

Any kind of relief measures above Keshena, therefore, in dealing with the floods less than half of what makes the flood at New London.

In his work, Mr. Clayton made a survey of the Leeman dam site. He mentions the possibility of such a dam, but concludes that as far as flood control is concerned, it would be of little or no benefit. He states that, even if the dams above Keshena were allowed and a Leeman dam built, all of this would not reduce the flood at New London by two feet.

Regarding the "Narrows" at Fremont, Mr. Clayton states that any dredging in there, even there would help but he says, "out of all proportion in cost to any benefits derived."

THE EMBARRASS RIVER
Mrs. Jones, state drainage engineer, states that considerable benefit would be derived at New London by the building of a dam. Since the fall on this river is about 15 feet in 15 miles above New London, which is about 4 feet more than that on the Wolf, if it dredged and straightened out this water would get away before the big floods in the Wolf come down. Since any improvement of this kind would have to be carried largely by the adjoining land owners, Mr. Jones does not recommend any work of this kind now.

Mr. Clayton continues: "The cut-off which carries a portion of the flood waters of the Embarrass river into the Wolf river below could be greatly improved by enlarging the present channel. Such an improvement would have little effect on flood heights below New London and its effect would extend only a short distance above that point."

Even if all of these projects discussed were a reality, this would probably not reduce the crest of the flood at New London by 2 feet. Granting, however, that it would lower it that much, it would reclaim for agriculture considerable land along the edges of the river bottoms, but a large part of the 62,000 acres involved, would still be unsafe for agriculture, and the towns along the way would be benefited very little.

REFORESTATION POLICY
The following letter from Congressman Schneider in reference to the reforestation policy of the Federal government, has a direct bearing on local control.

"Replying to your letter in which you inquire what reforestation project is being contemplated for north central Wisconsin, I am pleased to inform you as follows:

"In line with the reforestation policy established by the Week's law on March 3, 1911, entitled 'An act to enable any state to cooperate with the United States in the protection of water sheds of navigable streams, and to appoint a commission for the acquisition of lands for the purpose of conserving the navigability of navigable rivers' as amended by later acts, Congress has now before it for consideration a bill introduced by Honorable Roy O. Woodruff of Michigan, known as H.R. 271, which has for its purpose the establishment of a definite financial program to carry out the intent of the Week's law."

"It must therefore be recognized that the primary object of the Week's law, as originally enacted, was to protect the water sheds of navigable streams. This bill established the National Forest reservation commission, which was empowered to determine the areas in which this work is to be carried out and to purchase the lands necessary therefor."

A program looking to the acquisition of approximately 5,000,000 acres of land was adopted. Already, 2,584,076 acres of land have been purchased, and $15,335,860 has been appropriated for this purpose since the passage of the act of March 1st, 1911. About 2,500,000 acres of the entire program of reforestation is contemplated to be carried on in the Great Lakes region. The National Forest Reservation commission plans to purchase about 100,000 acres in Wisconsin and Wisconsin will be carried on along the upper Wolf river and its tributaries."

"Already, the state of Wisconsin has taken the necessary steps to make it possible for the federal government to enter upon its work of reforestation in this state. It is making an enabling act at the last legislature, approving such purchase of land as contemplated by the federal government for this purpose."

"The work of going forward with the plan of reforestation is temporary. It is held up because of lack of funds. The Woodruff bill, referred to at the beginning, which has been favorably reported out by the committee on agriculture, and which will, no doubt, be acted upon before the close of this session, will provide necessary funds to proceed with this work."

"This reforestation program will not only result in a very much desired replenishment of our depleted forests in the state, but I believe will also tend greatly toward protecting the water sheds along the Wolf river and its tributaries, which are subject to annual floods, constantly menac-

BAR MEXICAN CATTLE FROM UNITED STATES

To guard against the possible introduction of foot-and-mouth disease from Mexico, the United States Department of Agriculture has issued an amendment to its regulations which is expected to strengthen the rigid quarantine measures already in force. The new safeguard is officially designated as Amendment 5 to U. S. A. I. Order 251.

It provides, briefly, that no susceptible animals and no hay, straw, or other feeding material originating in the southern part of Mexico, where the disease is suspected to exist, shall be admitted into the United States. The amendment further orders that no hides, skins or other animal by-products originating in or unloaded within the designated portion of Mexico shall be admitted, unless disinfected under the supervision of a United States Bureau of Animal Industry inspector. The method of disinfecting is prescribed.

The new amendment is now in effect. It was promulgated by the secretary of agriculture under authority of an act of Congress giving the department broad power to establish necessary safeguards for the protection of United States livestock.

COTTON DISEASE
Bacterial blight is one of the most common and important cotton diseases in Oklahoma, according to F. M. Rolfs, plant pathologist of the Oklahoma Agricultural College. Very few fields are entirely free of this parasite, Rolfs says.

The lives and property of the riparian land owners along these rivers, and substantial improvement in the navigability of the river.

This seems to be a desirable thing inasmuch as it is in line with the much discussed reforestation of our cut-over lands, and is justifiable on that ground alone. However, in calculating the amount of potential benefits it is well to remember that that part alone of the Wolf river that flows above Keshena, drains about 200,000, and all of this is but a small part of the water that causes damages at New London. The reforestation project, contemplated involves a total of only 100,000 acres and all of this may not come within the Wolf river drainage basin.

Keep the little pigs out of the old hog lots to avoid infection by roundworms and disease. Rotate the hog pastures. Finish the hogs properly to meet market demands.

DISCUSSES METHODS OF LOWERING COSTS IN RAISING SWINE

University of Wisconsin Expert Addresses Institute at Menominee Falls

Menominee Falls—(CP)—Methods of reducing the cost of hog raising were outlined by H. J. Drant of the University of Wisconsin in an address before the farmers' institute here.

"At one time the hog was termed the 'mortgage lifter' of the farm belt," Mr. Drant said, "but then came the war period and the swine boom. The severe slump in prices followed and now some farmers have lost faith in Mr. Hog's ability to bring in cash returns."

"But the fact that he still brings these returns to the farmers of the Badger state is shown by the state livestock and crop review. On Jan. 1, 1926, there were 1,600,000 head of swine on Wisconsin farms, having a farm value of more than 25 million dollars. For the year 1925, hogs produced 13 per cent of all the income for Wisconsin farms. Pork stood second only to milk in this regard."

NEED LOWER COSTS
"Wisconsin does not need more hogs. But there is great need of raising these hogs at lower cost. Better selection of brood sows that are economically quartered and properly fed will reduce the overhead cost and increase the number of pigs per litter. The average number of pigs farrowed per litter is now only six. And one of every three pigs farrowed is dead by weaning time. After that, other severe losses occur from roundworms and disease. And improper feeding adds still further cost to the hogs which do not grow up."

"To assist in cutting these pork production costs, the college of agriculture is offering definite service to Wisconsin farmers in the form of a Wisconsin swine improvement program."

Among the points outlined by Mr. Drant were:

The use of a purchased bear, which is a strong individual and has of several rapidly growing brothers and sisters. Feed the brood sow well-balanced rations including dairy by-products and alfalfa or clover or soybean hay.

WAUPACA COUNTY

NEW LONDON-CLINTONVILLE-WAUPACA

NEARBY TOWNS

WILL HOLD SCHMIDT BURIAL SATURDAY

Helen Thersens Dies at Chippewa Falls After Several Months' Illness

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Funeral services for August Schmidt, 81, pioneer resident of this vicinity who died at his home on Pine-st. Tuesday afternoon, will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from Emanuel Lutheran church, by the Rev. Adolph Spiering. Burial will take place in Floral Hill cemetery.

Mr. Schmidt was born in Germany in 1845. He was married in that country in 1868 to Miss Albertina Leshow. He was sergeant in the Franco-Prussian war. In 1882 he brought his family to this country, settling in the town of Horton. More than 30 years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Kate Schable of Horton. In 1901 the family moved to this city and took up their abode on Pine-st. where they have resided ever since. For about 40 years Mr. Schmidt acted as janitor of the Emanuel Lutheran church and the Lutheran school.

Surviving are his widow, three daughters and one son, 15 grand children and 5 great grandchildren from his first marriage and two sons and one daughter from his second union. There is also one brother.

HELEN THERSENS DIES

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Helen Thersens, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Thersens, died Tuesday night at Chippewa Falls, where she has been a patient for the past several months. The child was born at Oshkosh, March 23, 1912. Her parents moved to this city when she was six months old where she spent her life until last June when she was taken to Chippewa Falls. Her father and mother, one brother and one sister survive her. Private funeral services will be conducted at the Thersens home by the Rev. Virgil W. Bell of the Methodist church. No date has been set pending arrival of relatives.

WALTHER LEAGUE PLANS CONVENTION

Committee Is Appointed for Fall Gathering — League Admits 11 Members

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Walther League of Emanuel Lutheran church held its regular meeting Tuesday evening. The principal matter of business was the discussion of plans for the league convention which will be held in this city in the early fall. The contents of the "Scrap Book" containing the work to be covered during the convention were analyzed. The convention committee was appointed as follows: Karl Krueger, chairman; Hildegard Spiering, Gertrude Karuhn, Margaret Arndt, Leona Gesse, Karl Priebnow and Melvin Wolfrath.

A revision of the constitution of the local league was read and adopted. Eleven new members were taken into the organization. A social hour followed the business session. Members of the league will enjoy a Valentine party at the school house Monday evening, Feb. 14.

Doctors and food pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamins that make flesh, create appetite, build up the power to resist disease and puts good solid flesh on skinny men and women.

But it's repulsive in taste and smell and nearly every stomach rebels against it.

So now men and women who keep up with the times are taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—rich in flesh producing, health building, strength creating vitamins and as easy to take as candy.

Try them for thirty days if you want to fill out those scrawny hollows in chest, cheeks and neck, and gain strength and vigor. And be this in mind if they don't help you in that time Schmitz Bros. or any druggist anywhere will return your money. But demand McCoy's 60 tablets 69 cents. adv.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, (adv.)

SUPREME COURT MAY DETERMINE FATE OF RAILROAD VALUATION

Ruling May Result in Government Ownership of Roads Again

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—The fate of railroad valuation, undertaken in 1913 by the late Senator La Follette may be decided when the Supreme Court meets again on Feb. 21. The court is now in recess and members are writing opinions in various cases. The ruling involves billions of dollars—and may result in government ownership of railroads. It is known as the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad valuation case.

Senator La Follette at the time he induced Congress to adopt the valuation bill said it was for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of water in rail capitalization. Senator La Follette asserted the job could be done in two years at a cost of $2,000,000. The task, now 78.5 per cent complete, has taken twelve years and cost taxpayers $20,000,000. Railroads have spent $80,000,000 cataloging their property, but they expect the work to add $5,000,000,000 to their property and investment account.

The carriers in the case pending in the Supreme Court have $8,000,000,000 at stake in this case, or the difference between the $80,000,000,000 valuation they place in their properties and the $22,000,000,000 estimate set by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The main issue involved is whether the Valuation Act requires the commission to find the value of interstate railway properties, and whether this value is the real, commercial value—to be used for all purposes and not a special "value" for ratemaking purposes.

Lower Federal Courts, after hearing the railroads' contentions, overthrew the valuation of the Commerce Commission on the ground that it was obviously a value "for rate-making purposes" rather than "true value."

If the Supreme Court supports the contention of railway counsels, it effectively will block the machinery designed by Congress under the Transportation Act for Governmental control of the rates charged by railway companies. And the result therefore is likely to be that the alternative is Government ownership, according to James C. Bonbright, professor of finance, School of Business, Columbia University, recognized as an expert on capitalization and valuation.

"The reason is," Prof. Bonbright explained, "that the use of market or commercial value (which is what counsel for the railroads are contending for) as a basis of rate control is

State Will Set Aside 134,000 Acres For Game

Madison, D. C.—There will soon be 134,000 acres on which Wisconsin's first natives—the animals of the forest and wild—may roam without fear of the hunter's gun or the steel jaws of traps.

The conservation commission has received consent of the state land commission to set aside game land on several plots of public lands and on privately owned sections.

"These sanctuaries will be established by the conservation commission forthwith," Elmer S. Hall, conservation commissioner, said today. "Among so absurd that it would make a laughing stock of the whole program of rate regulation."

"Economists have long pointed out that the attempt to regulate rates so that they will yield a fair return on the market value of the property involves a vicious circle. The trouble is that the market value of a railway, like the market value of any other business, and these profits in turn are dependent on the rates that the company is allowed to charge for its service."

"One cannot therefore determine whether existing rates are fair by finding whether they yield an adequate return on the market value of the property; for if the rates are exorbitant in consequence, with the result that the rate of return earned on that value would not seem to be excessive."

The Supreme Court may refuse to decide the case on its own merits by saying that the railroads have no complaint until the valuation by the Commission is used to injure their property rights. Tentative valuation totaling $29, and final valuations aggregating 174 now only indirectly injure the carriers' credit.

MERCHANTS COOPERATE IN FATHER, SON WEEK

Appleton merchants will be asked to support Boys Week, from Feb. 12 to 20 by the retail trade committee of the chamber of commerce. The committee decided to cooperate in the week at its meeting Tuesday morning at the chamber office. Merchants will be requested to advertise the week in every way possible and to insert a line in their newspaper advertisements.

Committee which are working on Dollar days for Appleton on Feb. 25 and 26 reported on the progress to date. H. L. Post, chairman of the advertising and publicity committee, said letters would be mailed to the merchants on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday containing suggestions. W. C. Fish of the committee which is calling on grocers to receive their cooperation, reported that all had agreed to cooperate and that the wholesale and retail men will give bargains.

A bill is being prepared by the commission to make a refuge of all the lands within the established lines of the Northern Forest park, which totals 2,000 acres and a second bill will provide for the creation of a game refuge in the Post Lake country, Langlade county. The latter would cover 12,000 acres.

Commissioner Hall explained that the purchase of these lands by the state is not necessary, their owners continuing in possession, with the only change being in the law regarding hunting upon the various tracts. The only shooting permitted will be that of game wardens who will be required to rid the land of wolves, fox and other animals that are considered pests when occurring in great numbers.

In some people the arteries have begun to harden at the age of 40, while with others this process does not begin until 55.

GETTING UP NIGHTS
For Bladder Relief Is Nature's Danger Signal. Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience.
Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 224 No. Park St., Columbus, Ohio says: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). She would have to get up 6 or 8 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as epinephrine salts on the bowels. Drive out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Voigt's Drug Co. adv.

TRY AGAIN TO HAVE PROPERTY PUT IN FACTORY DISTRICT

Owners of Land Near Railroad Track Want It Designated for Mills

A special meeting of the city plan commission will be called early next week by Mayor A. C. Rule to act on two petitions that certain properties be placed in local business and light manufacturing districts. Both petitions once have been refused by the commission and the common council but it is said conditions have been changed since that time.

The first petition is for the establishment of a light manufacturing and a commercial district at the corner of S. Mason and E. Lennox-sts. This piece of property is adjacent to the railroad tracks. It is contended that the property is about 20 feet above the level of the street.

The original petition was rejected by the plan commission and the common council about two years ago because it was proposed to build a roadway 60 feet wide from S. Cherry-st. to Appleton Junction along the railroad tracks. This piece of property would be directly in the path of the new street and it was pointed out that it could then be sold for home sites.

The roadway never materialized, however. The plan commission also will act on a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the common council, that the commission consider placing a section of Wisconsin-ave in a local business district.

It is pointed out by some of the aldermen that Wisconsin-ave will some day be a "second College-ave" and for this reason they believe that part of that street should be placed in local business districts. The plan commission is expected to study the problem.

Thin Like a Skeleton, Can't Eat, Can't Sleep

"Everything I ate would ferment and I had gas so bad that I couldn't work for two years. Was nervous, had bad cramps, couldn't sleep, and looked like a skeleton. Adlerika helped me so that in a month I gained 12 pounds."—F. Sontoro.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Doctors Praise Adlerika
Dr. H. L. Shoup, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."
Dr. A. C. Curl: I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results.

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 30 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."
Dr. R. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Appleton at Voigt's Drug Store, and other druggists. adv.
